DEDICATION

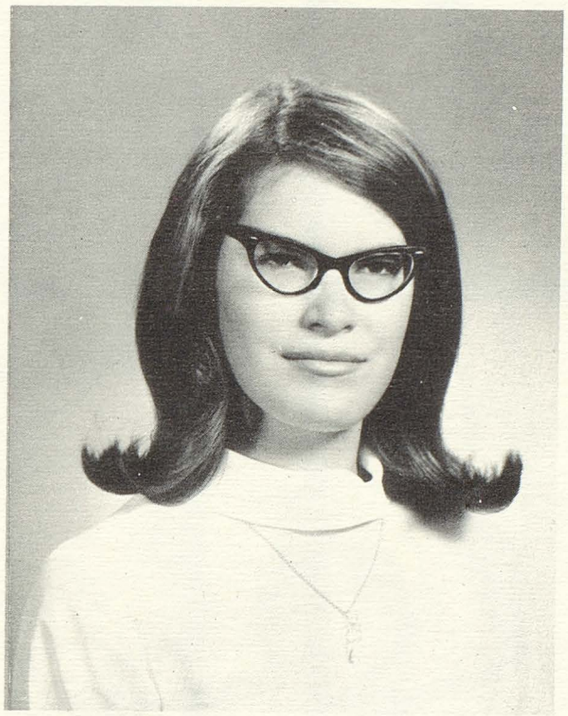

We, the graduating class of 1967, respectfully dedicate this, the eighty-first issue of the Academy Herald, to Mr. Edmond Vachon, Mr. Ordell Anderson, Mr. David Thompson, Mr. Robert Scott, and Mr. Vance Richardson. Each has given nineteen or more years of devoted service, totaling one hundred and thirty-four years, for Gould and its students. They have contributed immeasurably to the high standing of the school as teachers, counselors, advisors, coaches, and administrators, and, even more important, to us and all other students before, making us better people for having known them. By this dedication we want to express our everlasting appreciation and to extend to them our best wishes as they leave Gould Academy.

We are also indebted to the above for their contributions to the success of our years at Gould.

In Memoriam

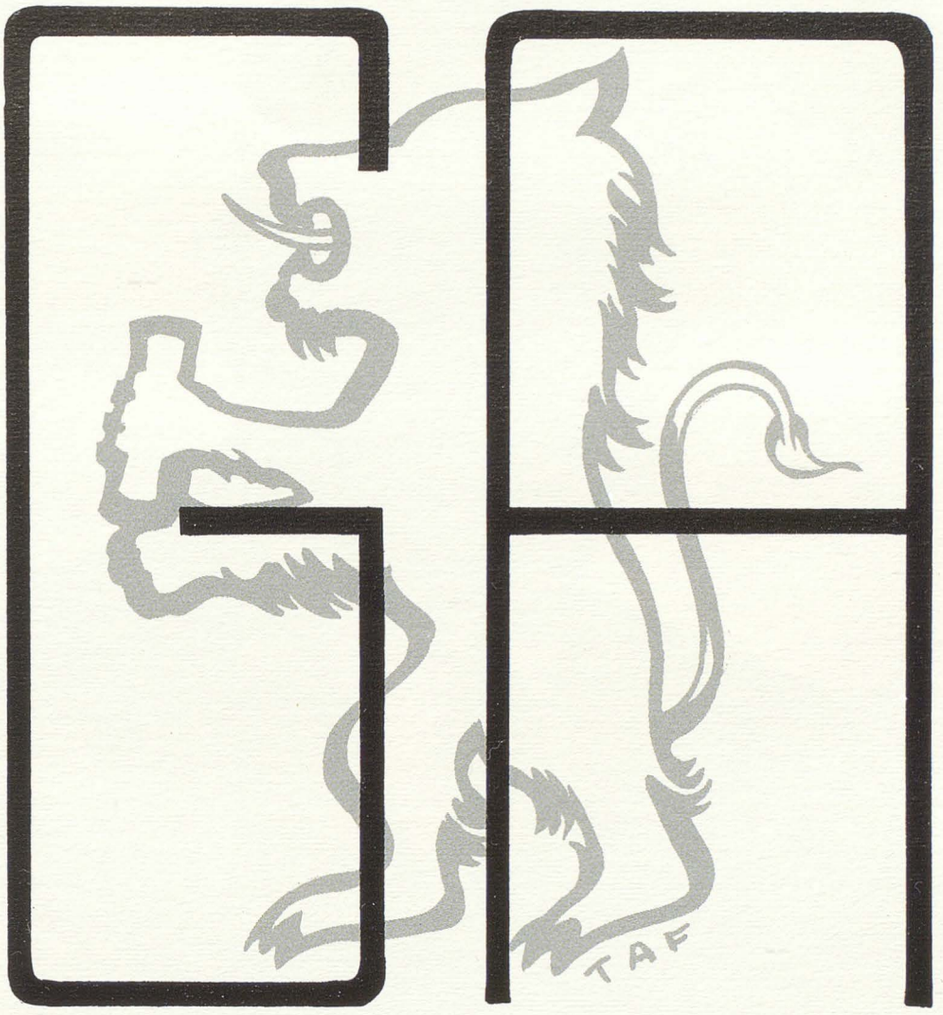

ELISE R. HATCH

This campus has been deeply saddened by the tragic death of Elise. For her many friends within the Gould family, and especially among her classmates, she will always be a part of their most cherished memories.

Junior Class

The Junior Class had a very successful year. Under the leadership of Roger Wheeler, president and his cabinet: Mark Hutchins, vice-president; Darlene Merrill, secretary; Ned Robertson, treasurer; and Ruth Tebbets, SAC representative, we have shown the school what a well run and well organized class can do.

Our first major success was winning the GAA Halloween Party. The junior skit, a portrayal of various juniors as we envisioned them ten years from now, was a masterpiece. When the scores of all the events were tallied, we juniors found ourselves tied for first place with the seniors. The superiority of junior talent manifested itself, however, when Mark Hutchins broke the tie by decisively defeating the senior class president in a race in which they pushed pingpong balls across the floor with their noses.

The next event of inter-class competition was Winter Carnival. Out of deference to the seniors, we let them place first, but the juniors came in a close second. Our sculpture, a black seal balancing a ball on its nose, was a work of art. In competition we were sporadic, placing well in some and miserably in others. Although we finished near the bottom in basketball, we had the satisfaction — and surprise — of once defeating the seniors in overtime. We placed second in mayhem soccer, but would have won if it had been scored on the ability to finish unscathed; we suffered no bloody noses, broken bones, or missing teeth. We placed second in skiing, last in the obstacle race, and third in ticket selling. Juniors not only joined in the fun of carnival weekend, but helped plan several of the events. Peggy Churchill was in charge of the Queen's reception, Darlene Merrill bought the Queen's gift, Pam Douglass arranged for refreshments at the various events during the week-end, and Ruth Tebbets was in charge of the coronation.

Ned Robertson, Larry Fox and Jim Mann helped distinguish the school by contributing to the victory of the cross country team in the State meet.

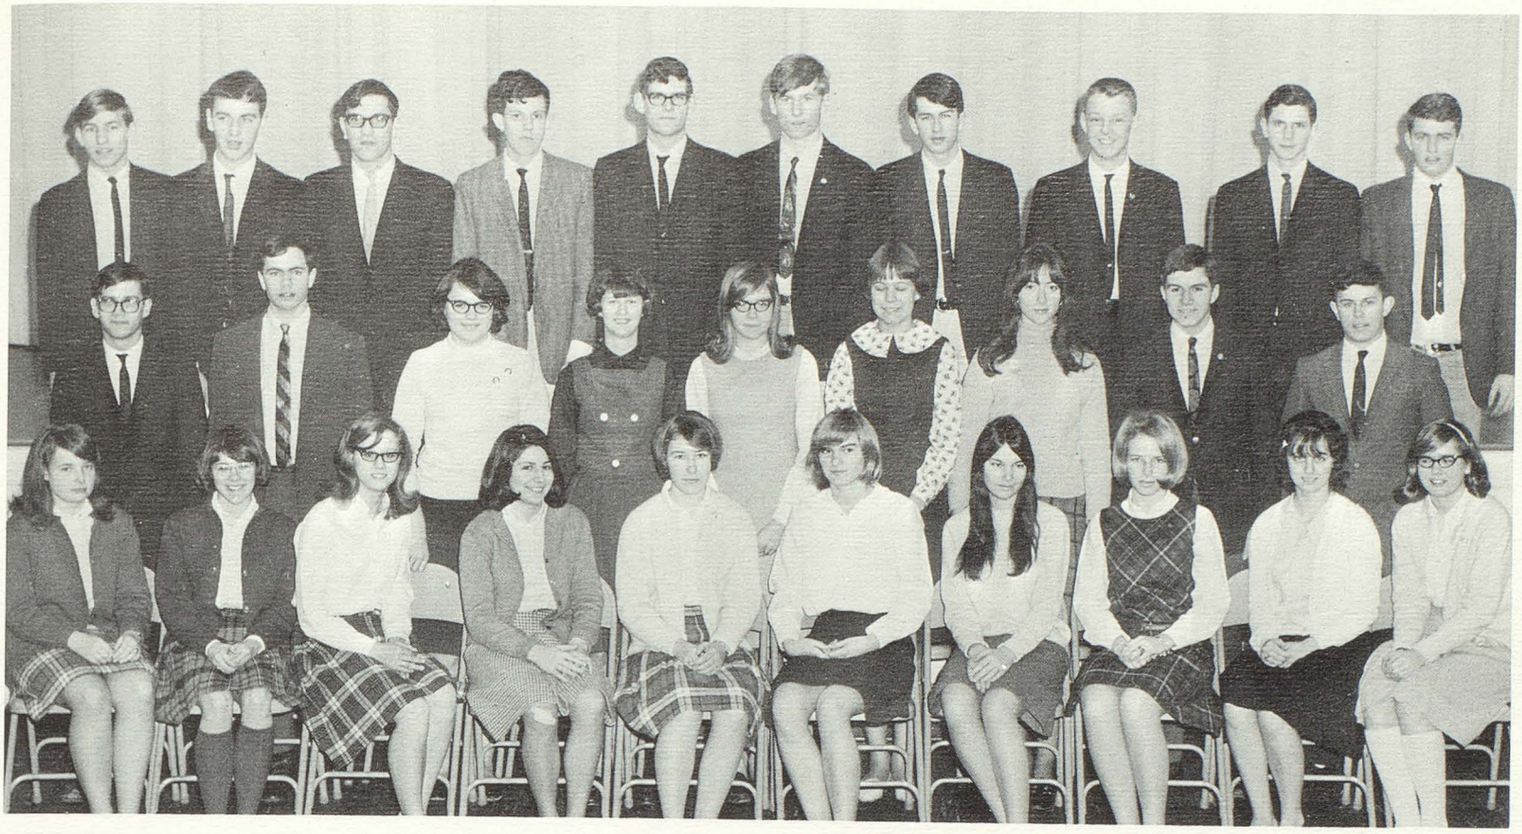

In basketball Bobbie Gilbert and Tom Davis were the sole juniors to make the varsity team, but Ed Deegan, Dave Hutchins, Ted Jackson, and Dennis Durgin represented the junior class on the junior varsity team.

Skiing was not the juniors' forte; only Larry Fox and Ned Robertson were on the cross-country team, and we had no one in Alpine events. Jim Young and Jimmy Perkins, however, were manager and assistant manager respectively. Larry Fox has been chosen to be next year's captain.

While the junior boys have worked hard at sports throughout the year, they have always been urged on by the cheerleaders. Pam

Junior girls also distinguished themselves in athletics. The group that has consistently done the best, the archery team, consists primarily of juniors. It includes Betty Rae, Betty Fuller, Diane Cross, Sylvia Kimball, and Mary McGee. Vicky Brown, Carol Olson, Darlene Merrill, and Gretchen Dock were on the field hockey teams for the games with Kents Hill on Parents' Day. Debbie Mitchell and Cory Carswell were the only juniors on the tennis team. Representing Gould on the basketball team that massacred Andover's team were Gretchen Dock, Darlene Merrill, and Vicky Brown.

The junior class is definitely not all muscle and no brain; we hold many important positions in all the clubs on campus. In F.H.A., Sylvia Kimball is the public relations chairman, and Jo Ann Perry is the historian. On the GAA executive council are Pam Douglass, vice-president, Vicky Brown, SAC representative, while in council are Gretchen Dock, Cindy Chapin, Darlene Merrill, and Carol Olson. Our Latin scholars are Ned Robertson, vice-president of the Latin Club, Cindy Chapin, secretary, and Neila Smith, a member of the Olympian Council. Pam Douglass is president of the Biology Club; Bob Kuenstle is her vice-president, and Vicky Brown her secretary. On the Outing Club Executive Council are Peggy Churchill, Pam Douglass, and Ruth Tebbets. The Camera Club, which has done a good job providing the school with pictures, is headed by Al Cummings while Bill Eames is the vice-president and SAC representative. The aspiring journalists of the junior class are Gretchen Dock, Ruth Tebbets, Pat Saunders, Ned Robertson, and Vicky Brown, who work on the Academy Herald, and Neila Smith, Al Cummings, Ruth Tebbets, David Hutchins, and Ellen Kennett, who write for the Blue and Gold. Juniors active on the Audio Visual crew are Jim Perkins, Roger Wheeler, Bill Eames, Jim Young, and Dick Waldron.

Four juniors were inducted into the National Honor Society this February. These were Cindy Chapin, Bill Eames, Ellen Kennett, and Ruth Tebbets.

Several members of our class have received honors not associated directly with the school. Bill Eames was elected to the executive council of the New England Association for Student Government at a convention in Massachusetts. Cathy Felt, with Diane Cross as her alternate, was chosen to represent Bethel at Girls' State, and Andy Inman, Tom Davis, and Bill Eames were given the honor of attending Boys' State.

Sophomore Class

A class is judged on the merits of its illustrious members. Right? And the greater the number of illustrious members, the more illustrious the class. Illustriouser and illustriouser. Proposition: that the sophomore class is rising from oblivion and will, the world unsuspecting as it does all greatness, contribute the vast and varied collection of its great members to the ranks in the wax museum of the future. We are at present sadly misjudged; we can only conjecture with deep, complacent satisfaction the stupefication with which today's Gould Academy students will behold our waxen complexions and realize that they were privileged to be among our worthy midst.

First of all, there is an infinitesimal matter to clear up, be it only for posterity. Having slipped up last year and allowed our true talent to shine through, winning third place as freshmen in Winter Carnival, we found it necessary to retrace our steps. Greatness should arise slowly so as to avoid frightening smug elders. Our fat lady sculpture, although it achieved only fourth place recognition, was the last sculpture to melt into nothingness. Our construction, just like our class, was solid. It left its mark. Other than that, our skill, while deliberately not spectacular, was recognized. We placed third in the obstacle race, skiing, and basketball, and second in mayhem soccer. However, the beautiful young sophomore ladies rose admirably to the occasion with what will henceforth be known as slay-him soccer. Steve Hastings, with his third place win in class B, and Brandon Falkenham, with his first place win in class C, appropriately represented the sophomore class in skiing. The girls also made an excellent showing, Grace Lackee and Pip Wiese placing third and fourth respectively in class A. We feel that, although this psychological gambit was necessary, we will have approached our certain future success with tact.

Hello, sports fans! Here we are in the sports wing of our wax museum. The sides are lined with famous sportsmen . . . Jean-Claude Killy, Scott Daigle, Alan Remington, Peter Kailey, and the manager of all managers, John Thurston. With humble gratitude to Mr. Scott for his excellent coaching, the sophomore class acknowledges its two football heroes, Jim Johnson and Peter Kailey, who didn't really have any plans after school except tackling, anyway. Next we come to a roped off area where Craig Boyd and Ray Powell used to stand unprotected from swarms of baseball fans. They had such a problem with the crowds of girls wanting locks of hair that the museum management was forced to place them behind some sort of protection. Plans are being made for electric chicken wire; it is the price they must pay. Our next stop is for archery, more specifically, for Cupid and Candy Smith, famous archers both. We feel that Cupid sort of helped natural selection along a bit this year, in more ways than having Candy natuarlly selected for the girls' varsity archery. Suki Brown, among the great names in basketball, used to be roped off as well until the management caught on that there is quite enough hair there to supply even the greediest hysterical fan. Lastly we come to Scott Daigle and Alan Remington, whom we haven't seen because the management, in an effort to achieve realism, motorized their wax, track-running figures.

The sophomore class abounds in executive ability. However, our two-term president, Scott Daigle, is not content to be an executive. Faced with a rapidly depleting sophomore class, he acts both as an Indian and as a chief. He can be seen supervising and pitching in on our ill-fated fat lady masterpiece, along with quite a sampling of our public-spirited class, including Ray Powell, afore-mentioned mophead who doubles as vice-president, and Pip Wiese, great all-round squaw and diligent secretary. Then along comes Mary . . . Jane Geronda, notoriously gabby S.A.C. representative who has served two years with distinction and is now on the executive council, and who looks like the spitting image of Mary Jane Geronda, sophomore class G.A.A. representative this year and to be vice-president next. It looks as though our class will contribute its due share to the population explosion with all its F.H.A. members who have achieved reknown. We have the state president, Bev York, who is also chapter secretary, Janis Kennagh, the District E secretary and chapter parliamentarian, and Anita Young, who is the famed fudge sale announcer. But the future belongs to the fit, and we also have ample G.A.A. representation. Nancy Brown is secretary, Beth Andrews, dancing manager, Cathy Buck, softball manager, and Betsy Fox is the little tiny basketball manager.

Never let it be said that we represented only the crasser elements. Three of our ranks have achieved respected status in the Chapman Club: Dorothy Lovejoy, who was also selected for All State, Diana Walker, and Terri Stecher. We have worked out an excellent policy: they warble and we crow. Neither are our waxen images restricted to singers for we also have a crew of inquisitive reporters for the Blue and Gold: Scott Cummings, Bob Knapp, Nancy Brown, Gary Page, and Melinda Held. Scott also branches out in dramatics, playing in "Camelot" and in "A Christmas Carol" as young Scrooge. The last artist, and one who certainly deserves her paraffinated state is Sue Pollack, imaginative and tireless decorator. In addition, Sue is a valued member of the yearbook staff.

We have seen how well represented is our class in diverse fields of endeavor. We know that eventually the world will accept us, as it must accept superiors. However, we must bring this about gradually. Perhaps we have already said too much.

Freshman Class

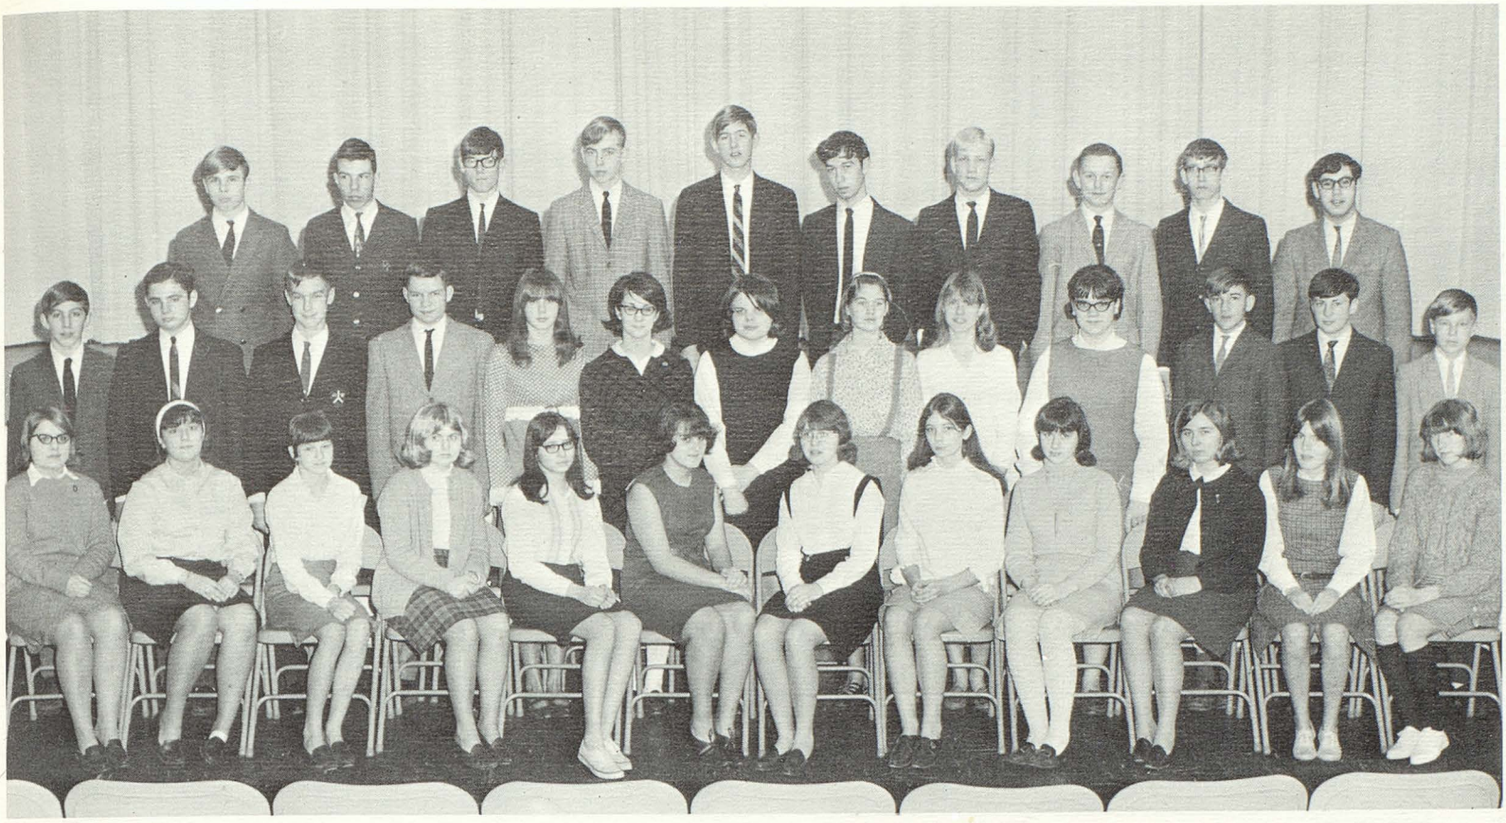

The officers of this year's seventy-three member Freshman class were: President — Lincoln "Topper" Fiske, Vice-President — Henry Deegan, Secretary — Debbie Bolen, Treasurer — Kris Glines. Our representative to the Student Activity Council was Wayne Davis.

On September 30 behind the driving beat of Bethel's reknowned "Unknowns" (Andy Davis, Doug Farrar and Craig Walker) the 1966-67 Freshman class broke into the school year with the traditional Freshman "mixer." Happiness, gaiety and voice were the main ingredients of the class of 1970's first dance. The only slip in the entire evening was that there were several new, unidentified faces among us. This could have been solved very easily with name tags, but, alas, these had been forgotten.

In sports the Freshman class was very active. There were several girls from the freshman class appearing on the various varsity teams of girls' sports Becky Thompson was the goalie for the varsity hockey team and did quite well kicking away the balls with those monstrous shin guards. Adeline de Clisson was a strong member of the tennis team, showing off her polished French form. Another honor we can also add to Adeline's list is that she was the only freshman girl to receive fifty points in sports, giving her class numerals. Cindy Hastings was our star with the bow and arrow and made contact with the bull's eye many times. The bouncy freshman on the girls' basketball team was Ellen Dombkowski, who scored six of our winning points against Andover.

In football those on the J.V. team were "Dug" Farrar, Andy Davis, Jerry Gibbs, Mike Inman, Tommy Remington, Brian Stowell and Craig Walker. Of these seven, two, Andy Davis and Dug Farrar, played frequently on the Varsity team, both of them doing exceptional jobs.

Participating in cross-country were Frank Packard, Ricky Seames, Seth Timberlake, and Brian Wentworth. Worthy of mention is Seth, who placed well in many of the races he ran.

In skiing Tommy Remington and Ricky Seames both represented our class well. Tommy, true to Remington tradition, received his letter award and proved himself very valuable to the team.

On the J.V. basketball floor Chris Bailey, Wayne Davis, and Henry Deegan proved their skill and agility by piling our points to a maximum and holding the opposition's points to a minimum.

In J.V. baseball Wayne Davis, Andy Davis, Dug Farrar, Seth Timberlake, Terry Swan, Craig Walker, Ricky Seames, and Dick Powell have combined forces to form the bulk of what looks like a record breaking team. Backed by the powered slugging of Dug and Seth, the team can accomplish no less than victory.

Participating in track are Topper Fiske, Tom Remington, and Brian Wentworth. Tommy looks as though he may be on his way to receiving another letter, and for Brian, this sport might bring him his first.

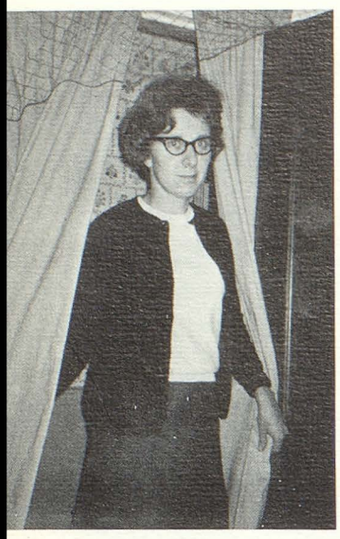

At the annual Halloween Party we showed our theatrical talent was second best by taking a red ribbon for our skit on school spirit. Unfortunately, we either didn't run fast enough or we didn't look hard enough for we lost the scavenger hunt.

Prior to the Winter Carnival we freshmen were busy constructing our snow sculpture, and in spite of the fact that once he did take a tumble onto Sue Hatch, our clown took third place. We placed second in ticket selling, and our victory was in the obstacle race with Adeline de Clisson and Craig Walker, and Susie Pierce and Andy Davis struggling to the finish gate.

We were a very enterprising class for we made bushels of money. Our grand total at the end of the year was one dollar and seventy-seven cents.

Gehring Hall

Sigh. Another day closer to the weekend and we straggle back upstairs after school. Wait here at the end of the hall — it's safer — and I'll get rid of my books and show you around.

This first room usually has quite a crowd — Elise Hatch and Debbie Shipp are the only ones who really live there. At the moment, Elise is working on band music and talking with Mary Jane Geronda about SAC and MJ's weekend at Rumford. Shippie — the one over there — is playing the guitar under the hair dryer (she claims it keeps her from falling asleep!), although she can just as often be found over in Home Ec cottage baking goodies to send to Viet Nam.

Here in the next room we find Mary Jane's roommate, Melinda Held, trying, with moderate success, to sleep.

In senior alley no one seems to be home in the first room, Sue Hatch and Becky Chandler's. From the absence of Sue's sewing box, we can surmise that she's downstairs keeping the sewing machine busy. (What's this dorm coming to with two freshmen in senior alley?)

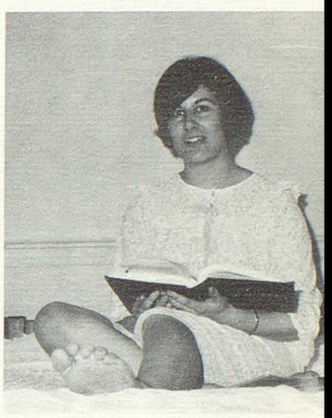

The next room is likewise empty of its owners, although Becky Chandler is industriously bouncing on Nona's bed in hopes of inflicting some permanent damage upon the springs. Becky Andrews and Barb McKnight are preparing dinner in the last room to the tune of "It's May," helpfully(?) assisted by Adeline de Clisson.

Back in the main hall we are accosted by Cory Carswell, who avidly suggests we plan another dance so we can invite THAT BAND again. After patting her consolingly on the shoulder we continue.

As we enter the Middle East Quarter, we find Sally Boynton and Carolyn Stanley giggling something unintelligible and though we'd like to stay and figure out what is the cause of this hilarity, the gentle strains of "Louie, Louie" draw us into the Brayton-Floyd residence. Here Carol Floyd, calmly sitting in the midst of a mass of sketches for Camelot costumes and one orange and white striped parachute, informs us that this is only the thirty-seventh time her roommate, Debbie Brayton, has listened to it today. Debbie just grins sheepishly.

Gehring Hall

Next we find the room of Debbie Mitchell and Barbie Halperin — that's Debbie in the corner standing on her head. Ann Cole is here too, hanging out the window cheering on the passers-by. Kris (Syd) Smith and Nona Bean are just across the hall, sitting on the floor playing Russian Banks to the tune of Dylan or the Mamas and the Papas.

Careful, now. That pair that just ran past you shouting "Tomie rots!" and "No! Nancy rots!" is just Kay (Tomie) Butler and Little Kid (Nancy Reid) having one of their usual running-up-and-down-the-hall-and-shouting fights (isn't that Nancy's foot we can see portruding from the garbage chute?) They're the only roommates I know that don't borrow each other's clothes.

I hear uproarious laughter from the residence of Bronwyn (Winnie the Pooh) Patterson and Beth Andrews, but it's only their Smothers Brothers album. They are swapping ideas on how to rearrange their room (after all, it's been this way almost a week now!), just as they have been swapping other things lately.

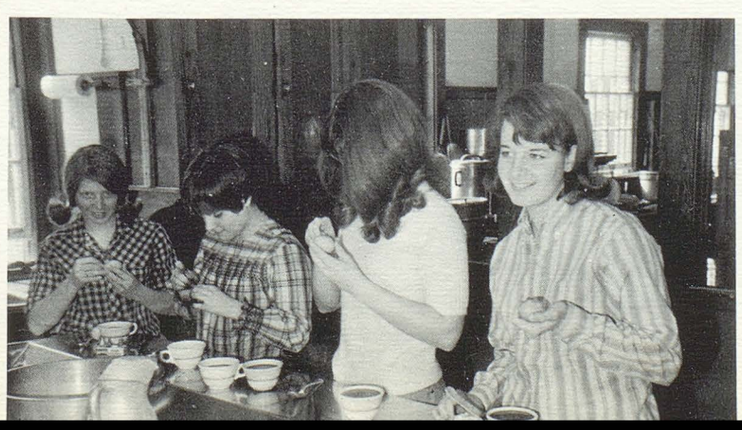

Over here down this alley is my room, and my roomy, Sue Pollack, is nowhere to be seen, although she has left her usual assortment of Triple Snack boxes on the bed, and the record player is still on — "loudly." She's probably off somewhere hunting for someone who can revive her long-dead ivy.

If we head back downstairs we'll surely pass DeeDee (dee-dee-dee-dee-dee-)Bunker in the living room watching television (she can't live thru the week without seeing that Roadrunner and the Coyote). Down still further, in the smoky depths of the buttroom are Terri Reid and Barbie Halperin discussing their problems(?) with the opposite sex and playing cards.

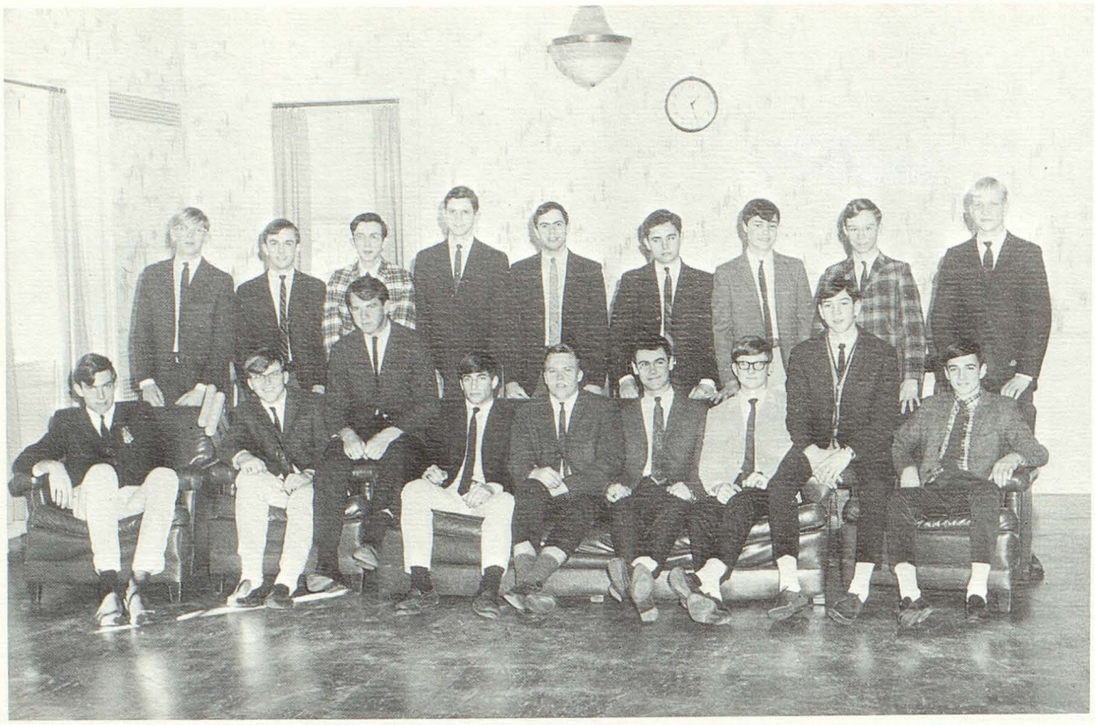

We seemed to have missed Grace Lackee, Kerry Stevens, and Mary McGee, but if you inquire you'll find that they're upstairs in the third hall bathroom eating tuna sandwiches.

But it's almost four now and if you don't want to be caught in the uptown rush, you'd better get started. Besides, I think I was just called for over the intercom.

Holden

Hall

This year the members of Holden Hall, although low in number, were high in spirit. Right now, let's wander through these hallowed halls and get acquainted with some of its residents.

Scott (Bambi) Cummings is playing (?) his organ too loud but it doesn't seem to bother the congregation in the next room. Here, Ray Powell and Paul (Truge) Treworgy are discussing the day's events. Bob (Sigs) Seemann just zoomed by in hot pursuit of Dicky (Keck) Powell . . . the hunter and the hunted.

In the T.V. room Bob (Rick) Knapp is intently watching "Space Ghost" while Bob (Gilespie) Gilpatrick placidly munches a peanut-butter-marshmallow sandwich. Our entrance was unnoticed, so we'll leave in the same manner.

In room 5, John (.....) Wentworth is strumming up a storm on his guitar while Roger Putnam, his roommate, is reading Playboy Magazine and wearing a rather sly grin. Paul York isn't in so he must be out skiing somewhere.

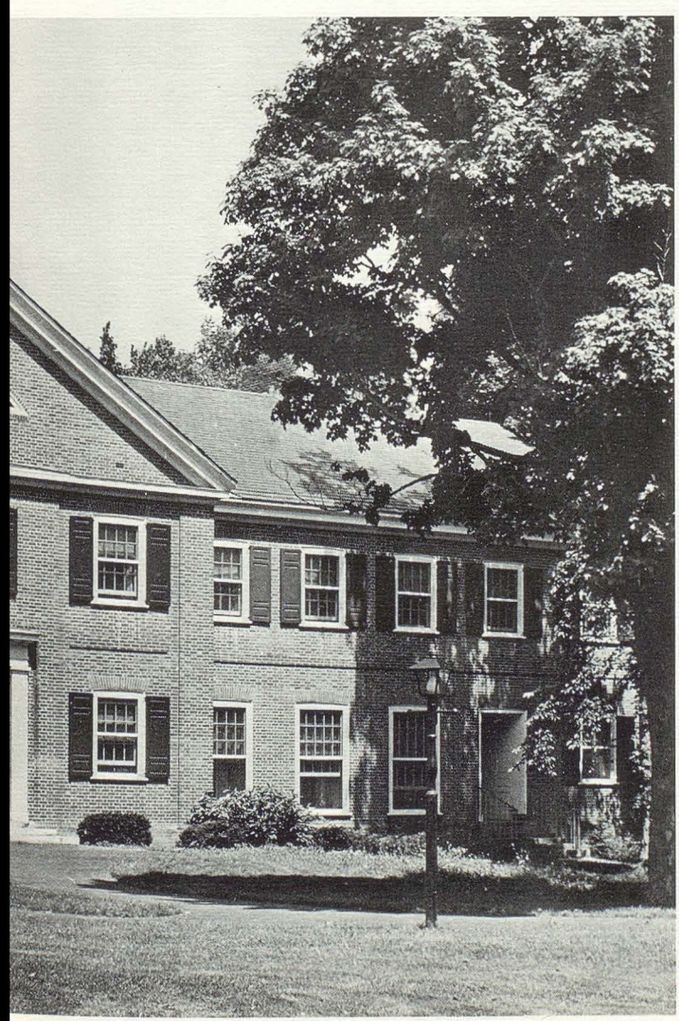

Down the senior alley, we find Bob (Dad) Kuenstle in Hal (Olav) Fure's room discussing how he's going to get out this vacation, and just where he's going to go . . . London or Rome. By the groans emerging from Dick Powell's room, it sounds as though Bob finally caught him.

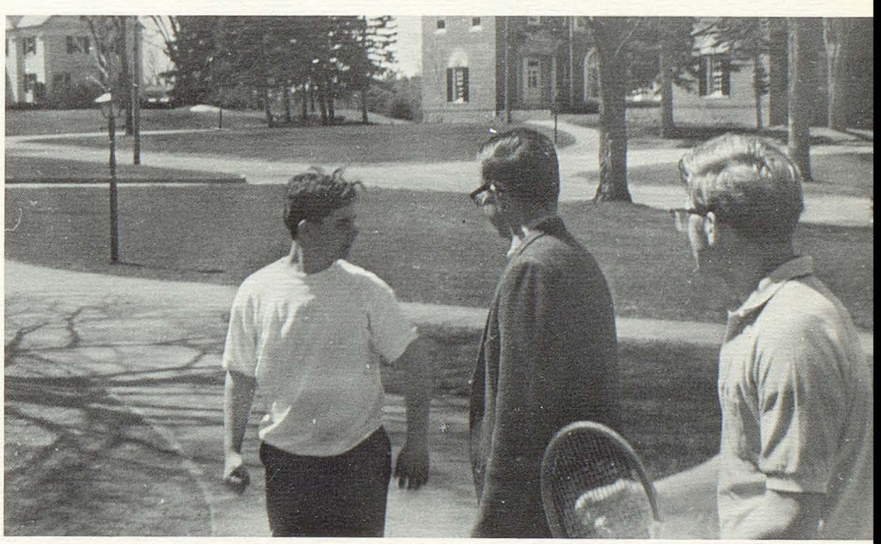

The second floor is strictly for the elite: Steve (Lance) Ames, Don Dixon, and Scott Daigle, who are all in Steve's room comparing Fort Fairfield girls with others they have known.

Downstairs, the Butt Room seems to be as cluttered with drama as it is with smokers. Dave Hart just threw one of his crutches at us. Maybe he's trying to tell us something? Next door, in the pool room, we find Jim Mann caked with grease trying to fix his bicycle while his roommate, George Palmer, is trying to play pool.

As we end our tour, we would like to thank Mr. Arthur Dexter on behalf of all the boys of Holden Hall, for neither losing his sense of humor nor his patience during the year. I hope you have enjoyed your tour.

Farnsworth Hall

You realize that it is quite a privilege to be able to visit the Lower Dorm. Up to now very few persons have been able to enter those dark corridors and return to tell their tales. But, since our papers are in order, I guess we will be allowed to pass.

Once inside Farnsworth Hall, we find ourselves in a long, dimly lit hall. To our left, we find at the end of the hall a very singular door. Entering we find we have discovered the residence of Peter Howard and Dave Bouldry. Although we have arrived during study horus, we find Pete on his bed, intently studying his Time magazine (and wearing those notorious sunglasses of his, I might add!). Unfortunately Pete has this problem; by the time he has finished reading one issue of Time, another one is printed. Result: note the worn, haggard look.

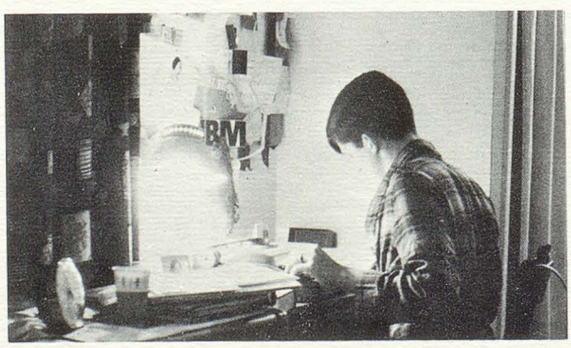

Dave is nowhere to be seen. Ha! Notice his latest issue of Playboy is missing! If we hurry, we'll probably catch Dave in the next room down the corridor trying to pull Rodney Swain off the top shelf of his closet to regain his pirated educational(?) material. But don't worry. If Dave gets too ambitious Rod is apt to retaliate with a Muzzy and Link missile (otherwise known as a guided book).

Notice the large lump in the bed on the other side of the room. That'sKen Remsen. He always did sleep a lot, but this time he's been out for three days. Mr. Scott says he's just worn out from skiing, but the general opinion in the dorm is different. If he doesn't wake up in two more days, we'll call Andrews' hearse.

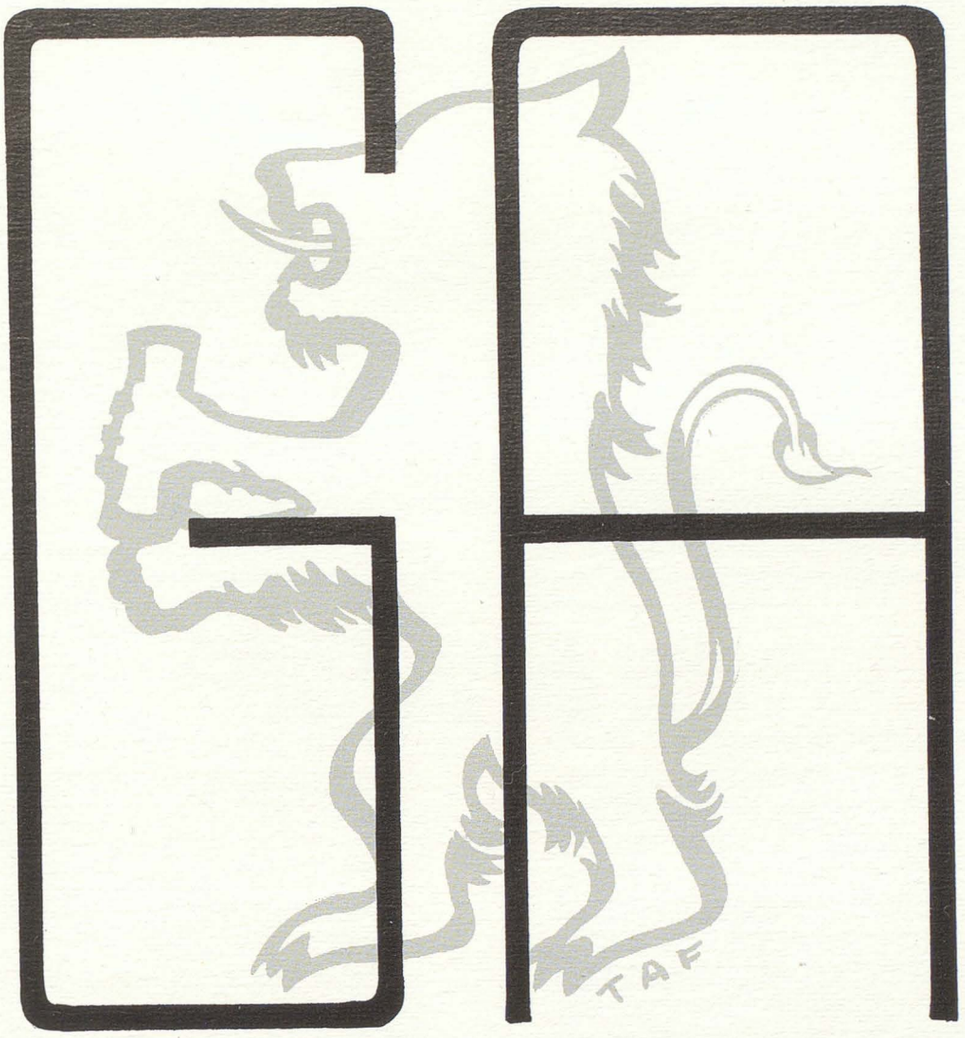

All the way down the hall in the opposite direction, we find the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott. Mrs. Scott is busy in her sewing room at this minute, but Mr. Scott is eagerly working on a little surprise he'll give to the second period U.S. history class tomorrow.

Finally, if we backtrack one room, we find Al Cummings, the only underclassman in the dorm. Unlike the rest of the group, Al's been here for only one year. Right now we see him busily scanning a Commager and Nevins text, for fear that tomorrow it will be "Cummings, go to the board!"

Oh, yes. What am I doing? I'm Al's roommate, and right now I'm trying to beat the deadline for the Herald and finish this bloody article.

Student Activity Council

This has been a busy year for SAC. In previous years, the full membership met only once a month, with exceptions when there was more than the usual amount of business. However, this year, it has met almost every week, the exceptions being when there was less than the usual amount of business. This could seem paradoxical, because this year there is usually only one social event per weekend geared for the total student body, while in past years there were two. However, the reasons for the increased amount of business is that one, the entire membership of SAC has been taking an active part in the weekend programming, and two, SAC has been innovating. There have been a number of "different" weekend activities, in an effort to make up in quality what has been reduced in quantity.

SAC has a number of standard duties which have not changed for a number of years, but which have had a little something added this year. For instance, it has been responsible for choosing and scheduling weekend movies. The difference is the type of movie. No previous year can claim such a winner as Fiend Without A Face, or so recent a one as Seven Days In May. SAC also has charge of choosing the assembly programs. In previous years, this has consisted of looking through the program information of an assembly service and checking off the ones which looked good.

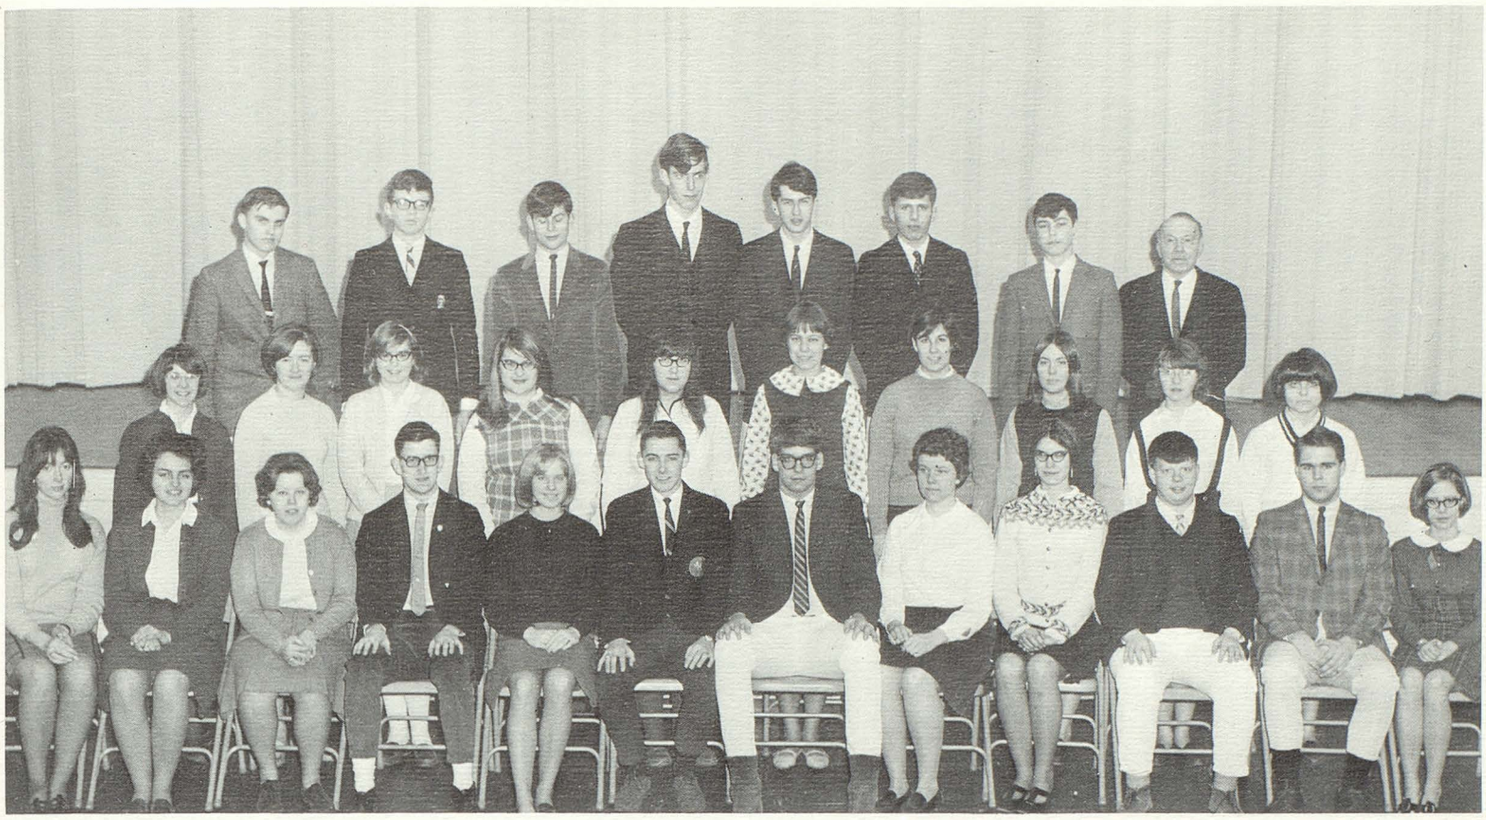

This year, only one was chosen from the service. This was because there was only one that we really liked. Another determining factor was that the assembly budget had been cut by almost 60%. For these reasons, and through the hard work of the Assembly Committee, there have been all sorts of different and exciting programs, from a funeral director to the Chapman Club to a contemporary Maine author.

SAC also takes care of preparing the student handbook, choosing the cheerleaders, handling the balloting in the school, sponsoring officer training sessions, ratifying the budget, trying to unsnarl the activity period melee, sponsoring the Christmas Formal, and a few other items.

Perhaps the single area in which there has been the most amount of change is the weekend activity scheduling. In past years, weekends have been alloted to different organizations represented in SAC. However, there were certain difficulties with this system, such as "the same old thing" every weekend, resulting from apathy and no advance planning. This year, SAC has worked in collaboration with one or two different organizations to get going on the weekends far enough ahead so that something original could be planned, leaving time for contacting entertainment, organizing decorations, or whatever. Some of the fruits of this system have been a folk singer, a computer dance, at which couples are arranged by a computer, a square dance, and a couple of "blow-outs" with "boom-boom" bands, always popular.

Not every weekend activity has been different, though many were, and we never did get Ronald Reagan to address the stuents at a spaghetti supper on the lower athletic field, with the Morman Tabernacle Choir adding atmosphere, as one of our more free-thinking members proposed. But we have made some innovations, and the year has passed well.

The Blue and Gold

This year, I am sure, all Gould students will join me in expressing thanks for the fine job the staff of the school newspaper, "The Blue and Gold," has done. Under the direction of the co-editors, Peter Howard and Barbie McKnight, "The Blue and Gold" in its four issues has not only covered all the major sports, club activities, and social events of the Academy, but has also given the students a chance to express themselves in the form of editorials and creative writings. One of the outstanding features this year was the column entitled "Opinions Please!" in which a cross-section of the student body and faculty had a chance to publicize their feelings on certain controversial topics. Our more creative students have written editorials and poems which ranged from "A Eulogy to the Cheerleaders" to an interpretation of what the many portraits of famous Gould scholars on the walls of study hall are trying to tell us.

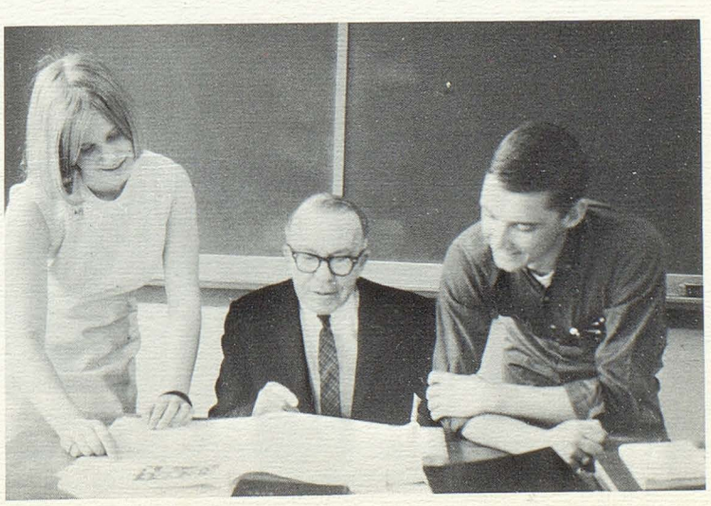

Another feature of the paper is the "Headmaster's Corner," which has contained varied topics meaningful to all students. A great amount of work has been put into the "Senior Personals" columns. Here, in each issue, several members of the class of '67 have been the subjects for write-ups on their personality, past activities, likes and dislikes, and future plans.

The back page of each issue is the sports page. All varsity sports from track to skiing have been covered here as well as some secondary athletics such as "B" basketball and girls' sports. This year's "Blue and Gold" has given special attention to the outstanding school events such as the Winter Carnival, the Theater Arts productions of "A Christmas Carol," and the hit musical "Camelot." All of the fine assembly programs have also been covered.

The photography staff under Al Cummings has done a good job in supplying "The Blue and Gold" with pictures for many of the articles. The publications of "The Blue and Gold" are made possible by donations of generous local businesses and citizens. The business and circulation managers, Nadine Curtis and Merton Brown, keep busy securing advertisements from these businesses. "The Blue and Gold" is a non-profit student organization and is distributed four times a year to all Gould students, faculty, and doners free of charge.

"The Blue and Gold" also is in greatest debt to its founder and advisor, Mr. David Thompson. His unselfish work is behind every past issue of the "Blue and Gold." Mr. Thompson will not be with this paper next year due to the fact that he is retiring after 25 years of service to the school. He will be missed by all who have worked with him.

Music

Under the direction of Mr. James Owen, the music department has met many exciting challenges and added depth and variety to this school year. To begin with, the faithful band marched to the bleachers to entertain the spectators at football half-times with lively marches. Of course every time the home team made a touchdown, the band responded with "Down, Down the Field for Gould." Later, when the goalposts had come down and snow was falling, the band trooped en masse to support G.A.'s bounding ballhandlers with such lilting tunes as "Tijuana Taxi."

To provide Christmas entertainment, the Chapman Club, a select group with a more serious interest in music, organized a festive assembly program. Selections ranging from "Winter Wonderland" to "Fum, Fum, Fum" were performed by full chorus. A Latin duet from "Gloria" was well executed by Kathy Powers and Dorothy Lovejoy. Steve Ames and Diana Walker favored the audience with solos. There was also an especially lively round of organ-piano duets by the club's president Peter Howard and vice-president Barb McKnight. Then Mr. Owen put the entire audience through rigorous calisthenics of warm-up before they joined the Chapman Chaps in singing carols to close the program.

Then the big question came . . . a musical? Relying on eager affirmations, Mr. Owen went ahead. The Theatre Arts class, pit band, and chorus joined forces to produce the romantic tragedy of King Arthur's kingdom Camelot.

In the meantime, Gould was proud to have a sizable number represent it at the All-State Music Festival in April. New chorus members Gretchen Dock and Kathy Powers soon got into the routine of rehearsing — eating — rehearsing that veterans Carol Floyd, Dorothy Lovejoy, Peter Howard, and Steve Ames remembered from past years. Band members Barbie McKnight and Elise Hatch, and Bronwyn Patterson of the Orchestra made their way through the snow-bound streets of Saco despite burdens of instruments, music folders, and music stands. The three days of concentrated practice under outstanding professional conductors culminated in two Saturday performances, ending a most memorable experience for all involved.

Back at Gould, "the show must go on!" Everyone worked relentlessly for four months to awaken Camelot once again. The leads, Peter Howard, Barb McKnight, and Steve Ames, lived and relived the lives of King Arthur, Guenevere, and Sir Lancelot.

The pit band was most fortunate to have the vibrant violin tones of Mr. Joseph Richardson and Mr. Lucien Langlois accompanying them. Gretchen Dock deserves special credit for her fantastically good job of piano accompaniment. In and out of the pit practicing continued — battle calls, wood-block echoes, flutter tonguing — on the hardest musical score Gould has yet undertaken. However, it was not all work; the lengthening rehearsals were occasionally broken up with a Kerry Stevens pizza party — right, Mr. Owen?

The chorus and dancers kept busy — practicing "It's May!" onstage and off. There was plenty to do between scenes, too. When hard-working Carol Floyd wasn't cornering knights and ladies for fittings, "Horrid" was confusing the issue in the music room.

Many thanks go to Mr. Owen and Mr. Vogt for their patience and perseverence. Despite all the rights we wronged, the show went onstage May 5th and 6th as a great success. Thinking back, the whole cast of eighty-odd musicians, dancers, and stage crew can say it was a lot of fun. What, what?

On Memorial Day the Band marched in the annual Locke Mills and Bethel parades to honor the dead. Then the Chapman Club was off for an afternoon of leisure on their picnic pilgrimage to Mr. Owen's Kezar Lake retreat.

Then, as the seniors joined the underclassmen to sing with them formally for the last time, the "Halls of Ivy" echoed sweetly on their graduation day.

Le Club Francais

Le Club Francais, unlike the other campus language club of toga-fame, has no sparkling motto or award winning scrapbook to show for its efforts, but everyone will surely remember the plusiers activities marveilleuses that the hardworking members have brought to Gould students. Much of the credit for the successful year should go to the executive council composed of Dave Thurston, President; Becky Andrews, Vice-President; Debbie Shipp, Secretary; Peter Howard, Treasurer and Barbie McKnight, S.A.C. Representative.

One of the main determinants of a club's activeness is money. Therefore, early in the fall, the French Club scoured Bethel and the surrounding area for bottles. Living up to the grand old tradition, the club netted enough money to sponsor one of the most successful weekends of the entire year.

The French Club again brought new and different entertainment to the Gould campus, in the form of a folksinger. Les etudiantes français set the proper atmosphere by spreading out mats around the stool where Dr. Edward Ives from the U. of M. treated his listeners to a rare blend of solo tunes and sing-a-longs.

The year ended on a rather sad note with the Aurevoir Party for Madame, the club's longtime sponsor and friend. The members oragnized a reception in the girls' dorm, complete with a cake inscribed "bon voyage, Madame." A gift of two paintings done by Walter Clark of Albany, Maine were presented to Madame as a reminder of Gould and her many friends here. Since Madame had to leave before the closing of school, the French Club welcomed the two new French teachers: Mrs. Bullard and Mr. Lecompte. We extend our sincere thanks for all the time and efforts our sponsors have contributed to the French Club, and we send a special "merci" to our beloved Madame in France.

Laeti Latin

This year, under the auspices of its advisor, Miss McIntyre, Laeti Latini romped through another season of solemn initiations, gala banquets, and state conventions. The season started late for the club and it wasn't until early in the new year that Laeti Latini was finally thrust into the limelight.

The first event on the agenda was the annual Latin Club Initiation, which was held on January 30. The trembling initiates were led blindfolded into the candlelit hall while white-clad gods and goddesses arrayed themselves in their places of honor. From their pedestals these deities spoke their words of wisdom and advice. The climax of the evening was the administering of the sacred oath by the club president. And by the end of the evening the initiatives were steeped in the tradition and the lore of the immortal gods and of Laeti Latini.

A more festive occasion, the Roman Banquet, was held on March 27. Through the hard labor of the more industrious club members the gymnasium was transformed into a great hall — complete with towering pillars. Here, the old members reclined on mats while slaves were auctioned off by auctioneer Dave Thurston at prices ranging from twenty-five cents to over four dollars and fifty cents. The slaves then obliged their masters by serving them such delicacies as hamburgers, fried onion rings, cheese, olives, celery sticks, and wine. Some of the more talented serfs were compelled to perform by singing, dancing, or pushing olives across the floor with their noses. The highlight of the event was the slave competition. While their masters reclined in the seats of the ampitheater, the slaves demonstrated their prowess and fleetness of foot in two classic forms of competition: the chariot race and the discus throw.

On that same evening the Latin Club united with the French Club to present a joint-sponsored evening of folk ballads sung by Professor Sandy Ives of the University of Maine.

In April the Junior Classical League State Convention was held. Laeti Latini was proud to have her own president, Dave Bouldry, also presiding as president of the state Latin Club.

Yes, it was both a memorable and fulfilling year for the Latin Club. For this a vote of thanks goes to the dedicated officers: president, Dave Bouldry; vice-president, Ned Robertson; secretary, Cindy Chapin; treasurer, Ray Powell. Assisting them were the stalwart members of the Olympian Council: Savannah Stinnett, Neila Smith, Nancy Brown, and historian Mary Jane Geronda.

THE OUTING CLUB

The Outing Club, Gould's largest co-educational organization, has had a comparatively quiet and inactive year. Led by Dave Thurston, president; Harlan Bean, vice-president; Barb McKnight, secretary; Terri Reid, treasurer; Becky Andrews, SAC representative; and an executive committee consisting of Peggy Churchill, Pam Douglass, Eileen Saunders, Gene Tebbets, and Ruth Tebbets; and Mr. Barth and Mr. Brewster as advisors, the Outing Club has suffered from a lack of student interest. Several attempts to sponsor mountain climbing and skiing trips have been abortive due to the lack of participants and poor cooperation from the weatherman.

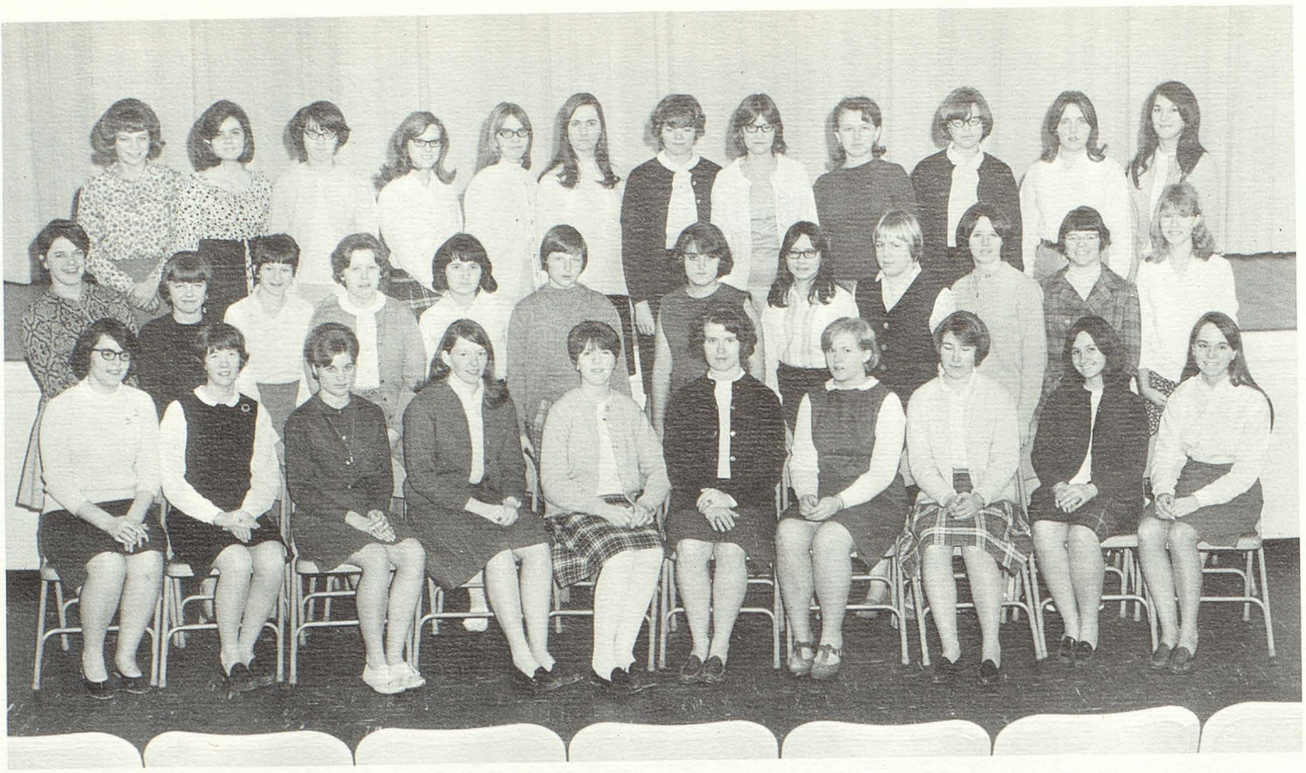

Later in the fall the Outing Club sponsored a gala square dance for the school. Decorations transformed the gym into a red barn and the professional caller named the steps. All enjoyed the evening.

The Winter Carnival, a highlight of the school year traditionally sponsored by the Outing Club, was the greatest success of this year's club. The usual events of ski races, a queen coronation and reception, and Carnival ball, were carried through with perfection. The high point of the weekend to many was an innovation of this year's club, mayhem soccer. Some found it thrilling to watch nearly one half the school battle fiercely in the athletic field for a huge medicine ball. For once, the weather was propitious for Carnival weekend; the sun was shining and there was a superfluity rather than a lack of snow. Terri Reid was crowned amidst the applause of her happy subjects, and ruled with grace and charm throughout the festivities. Victorious in their sculpture "Dumbo, Inc.," the ski races, ticket selling, and basketball, the Class of '67 captured the Carnival. The capable execution of Carnival Weekend shows the potential of this organization.

Future Homemakers of America

One of the most interesting and active organizations at Gould is the Future Homemakers of America, better known as F.H.A. This year's officers are: Linda Dunn, president; Becky Morton, vice-president; Brenda Saunders, treasurer; Beverly York, secretary; Jo Ann Perry, historian; Janis Kennagh, parliamentarian; Sylvia Kimball, public relations; Penny Twitchell, social and recreation chairman; and Kathy Kittredge, Student Council Representative.

The FHA girls will always be remembered for those monthly fudge sales! The girls also earned money by having a food sale, and selling boxed candy.

The Chapter has done much to benefit the community. The girls helped the Methodist Youth Group collect money for UNICEF at Halloween time. At Christmas time they sent presents to girls at the Stephens Training Center and gathered items for a food basket for a needy family in the Bethel area.

Many girls along with Mrs. Roger Conant, faculty advisor, and Mrs. Herbert Nickerson and Mrs. Clifton Jackson, Chapter mothers, attended the Distict E convention at Leavitt Institute in Turner. Kathy Kittredge, Janis Kennagh, and Beth Andrews presented a modern dance routine as part of the entertainment at the convention. Janis Kennagh brought the honor of being elected to the office of District E Secretary to Gould.

Many of the FHA girls enjoyed a rollerskating party at the Oxford Rollerskating Rink in March. It was certainly an excitingly different experience for everyone (right Esther and Mrs. Conant?)!

This year's Future Homemaker of Tomorrow award at Gould went to Claire Bachelder. She won this by achieving the highest score on a written test.

Nine girls were elected to attend the State Convention in Waterville on April 29. Those attending were: Linda Dunn, Becky Morton, Claire Bachelder, Nadine Curtis, Anita Young, Esther Conner, Beverly York, Amy Kennett, Janis Kennagh, Mrs. Conant, advisor, Mrs. Nickerson, Chapter mother, and Mrs. Esther Dunn. Anita Young was chosen to be the Chapter's voting delegate. Beverly York came back with one of the greatest honors; she was elected to be the President of the State of Maine FHA Chapter for 1967-1968. She will attend the National FHA Convention in Los Angeles this summer.

On May 4 the Chapter held its annual Mother-Daughter Banquet. Linda Dunn was named as the most outstanding FHA member of the year. Mrs. Conant, advisor, also presented awards to deserving girls for leadership, character, citizenship and loyalty. Mrs. Conant was presented with a charm bracelet with a charm to symbolize each of her classes.

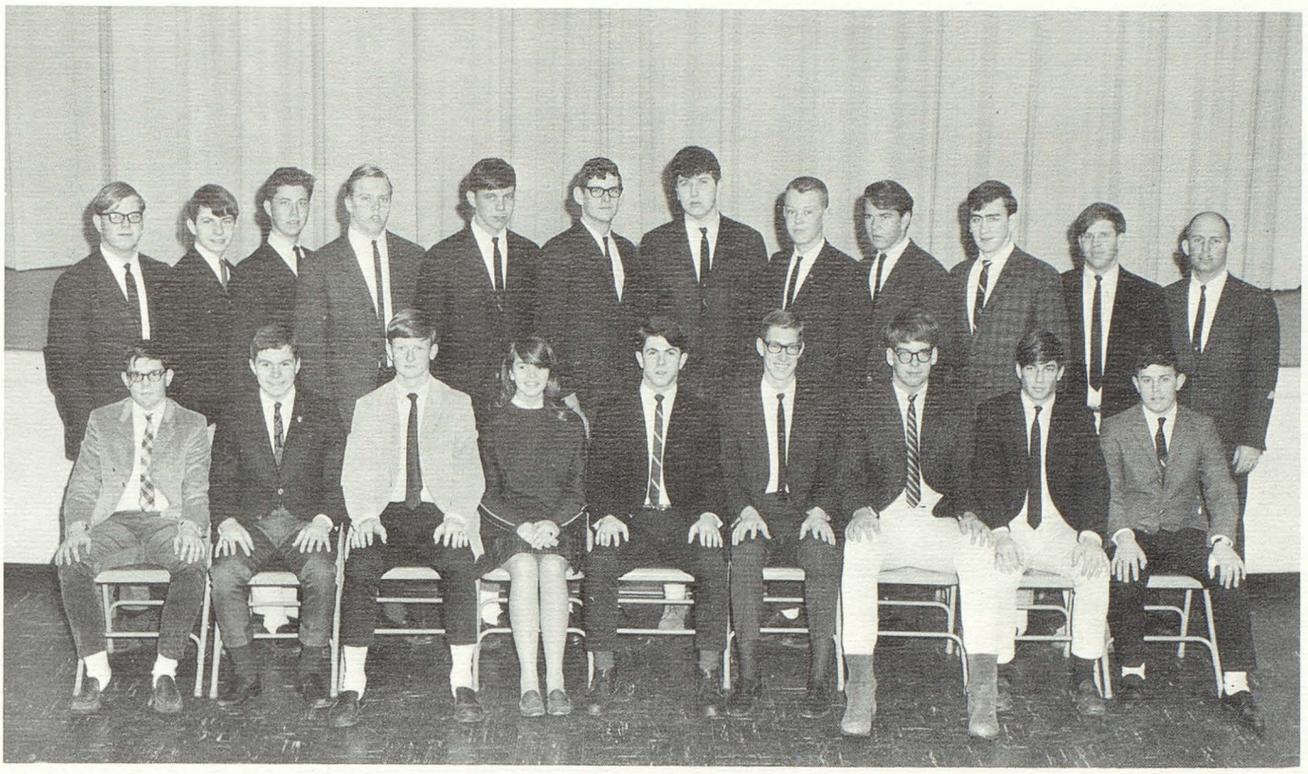

All in all this year has been a most successful year for the Future Homemakers of America; the future looks even brighter.

Weather Club

This, our third year at Gould, has proved a success. We wish to thank Mr. Barth for this as well as his patience with us when we broke thermometers.

Several dollars' worth of new equipment greeted us at the beginning of the year. Such things as a humidity guide, maximum-minimum temperature thermometers, dew point determiner, the new "home" for our equipment caused Marty Engstrom to exclaim (when he visited the club and presented an outstanding assembly program for the whole school), "My, but your weather station is quite complete!" Now that's a compliment!

Each week-day a prediction was posted in the weather window on the second floor. Sophisticated equipment and well-trained reporters have gained the reputation of being more reliable than Lou Colby. Such gems as, "Saturday will be followed by Sunday and warmer" were seen.

Forecasts, however, are not usually guesswork. (True, we often predict the opposite of WRUM, but this is science.) The person performing this sacred duty must pore through weather maps, take into account the temperatures, wind speed and direction, visibility, cloud type, dew point. Most important, he must use common sense. I mean, when it's raining so hard that houses are washing away, we don't say (as do the smiling reporters from T.V. and radio) that it will be bright and fair.

Not wishing the Earth Science class to get to the moon before us, under the capable leadership of President George Nickerson we decided to launch a weather balloon. It was raining that fateful afternoon, but we didn't let that bother us. Once launched from the athletic field, the spheroid rose thousands of feet into the air. The only problem was that it came right down again a quarter of a mile away. It was accidentally launched again and has not been seen since!

Biology Club

The Biology Club held its first meeting in Steptember; at that time the officers were chosen. They were as follows: president, Pam Douglass; vice-president, Bob Kuenstle; treasurer, Hal Fure; secretary, Vicky Brown; and S.A.C. representative, Beth Sargent.

It was voted to have dues per person $1.00 in order to have money to do a number of projects throughout the year. There was a steady count of fourteen members, including our advisor, Mr. Brewster.

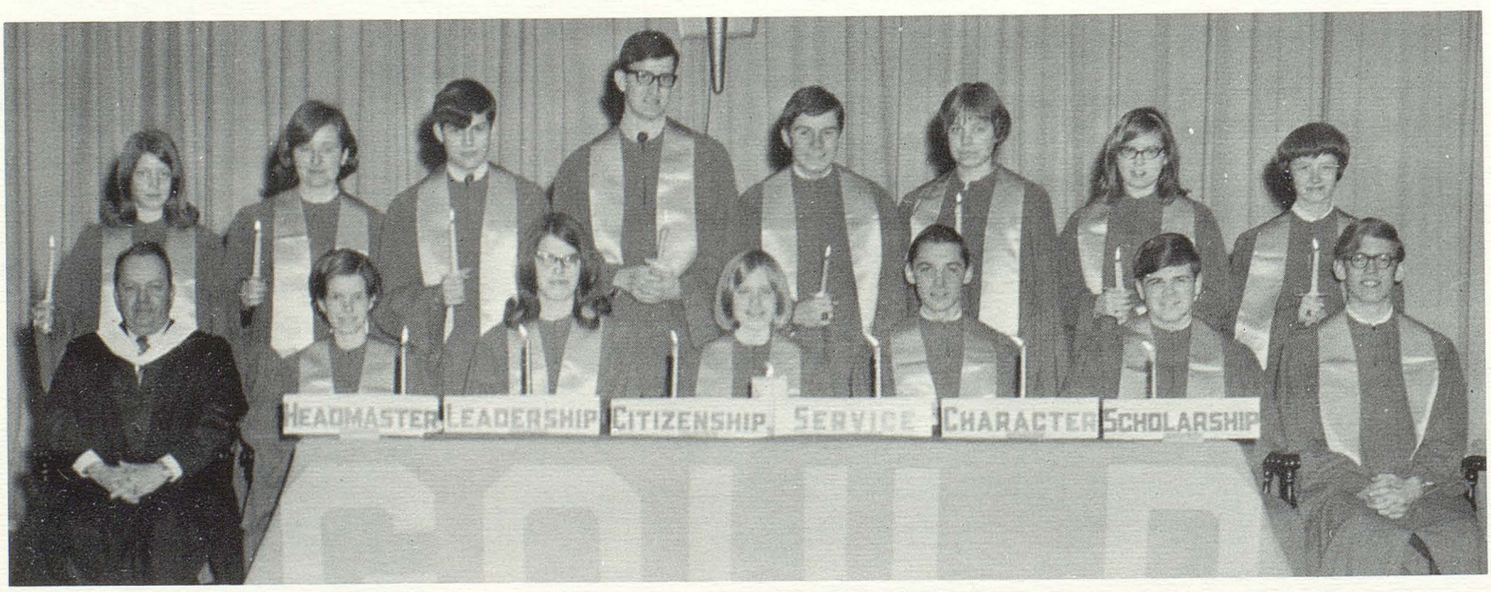

This year the members of the Club have put biological bulletin boards up, had displays in the downstairs lobby of the main hall, enjoyed listening to Mr. Lawrence Brown speak on conservation, had a few movies, and are now planning a trip to Step Falls.

Our club also helped the Camera Club sponsor the weekend of January 28, complete with elaborate decorations and a fine live band "The Revisions"; the evening was a great success.

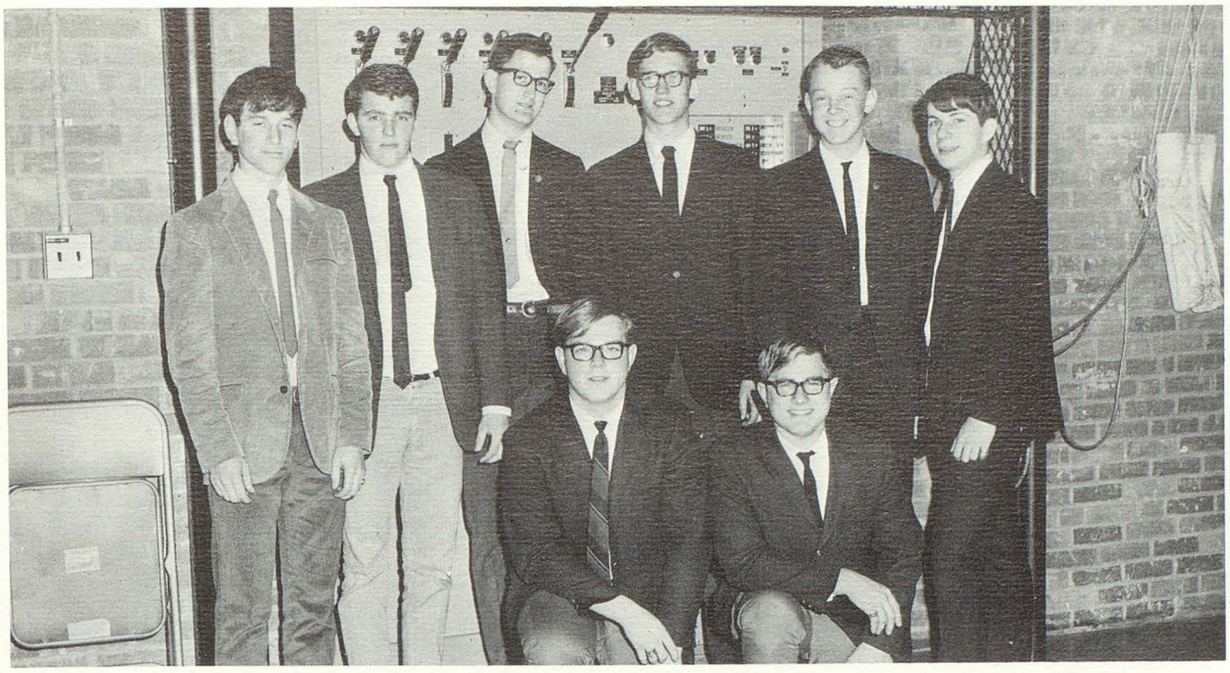

This year the members unanimously voted to join with the Weather Club into one Science Club, starting next year. Next year has promises of being very successful for the new club.

Audio-Visual

Look around the campus some day, and, chances are, you'll see some seniors, with a freshman in tow laden down with tapes and films, striding toward the auditorium. This is the audio-visual crew in action.

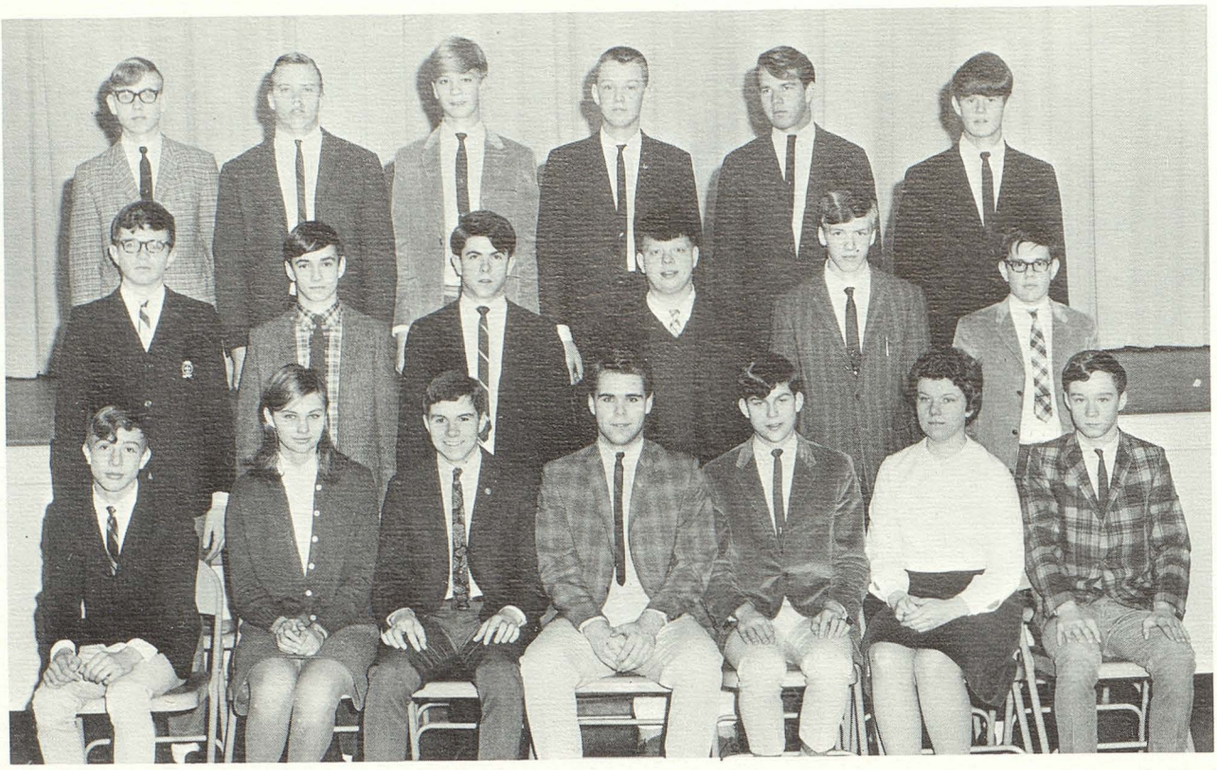

The A-V crew is composed of members of all four classes, and, when it is movie time, is one of the most active organizations on campus. The crewmen from the three upper classes are skilled (?) professionals (which means they get paid for their work) who like the feeling of accomplishment. They are trained as freshmen to operate film projectors, film strip machines, tape decks and sound systems.

Although their chief tasks are running movies and phonographs for dances, crew members can be called upon to perform any type of work involving the senses. Class movies, setups for assembly programs and operation of sound facilities for theatrical productions are just a few of the many jobs which they can be called upon to perform. Truly the A-V boys are among the most active members of the student body!

While the Camera Club has not had much publicity this year, its progress has been considerable. The darkroom was renovated, thanks to our president, Albert Cummings, who, with the help of Mr. Crosbie, our advisor, brought the matter of the darkroom's disrepair up before the administration. As usual, the Camera Club agreed to furnish pictures for both the Herald and the Blue and Gold, but this year, thanks to the large number of new members and the dedication of such veterans as Al Cummings, Bill Eames, and John Thurston, they were trained and were able to put their abilities to use by processing the needed pictures for these organizations.

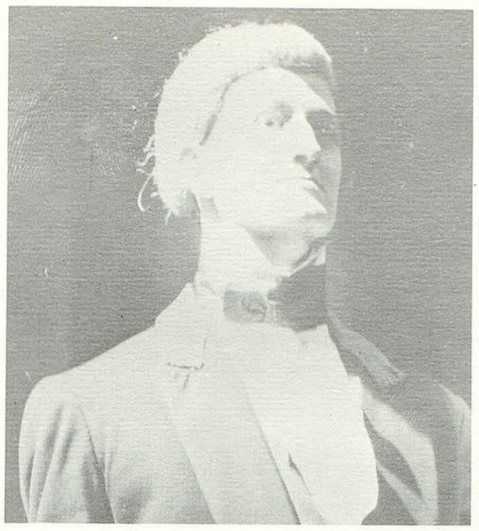

At the end of the year, the members who had provided outstanding service in the Camera Club were awarded gold and silver pins. This year, only one gold pin was presented Al Cummings took this honor, while Jimmy Dock, Bill Eames, John Thurston, Mike Inman, Lee Blake, Hal Fure and John Pollack received the silver pins.

Dramatics

Again this year, the theatre arts class has dominated the dramatics program. The first production was an adaptation of Dickens' A Christmas Carol. The cast was headed by Pete Howard playing the part of Scrooge. Also in the cast were Bill Eames as Bob Cratchit; Paul York as Fred; Steve Trinward as Marley's Ghost; Barbara McKnight, Michele Farrar, and Kathy Kittredge as the three Ghosts; Savannah Stinnett as Mrs. Cratchit; Jim Perkins as the Collector; Bronwyn Patterson as the young girl; Scott Cummings as young Scrooge; and Paul Farrar as Tiny Tim. The class was honored to have Mr. David Thompson as the narrator. Vicky Brown was the hard-working Stage Manager; Jim Perkins handled props with the help of Paul York, Bill Eames and Steve Trinward; Pat Saunders and Debbie Bolen were in charge of lighting; and Ned Robertson did the sound. The play was well received, and everyone waited in anticipation for the next production.

Soon after Christmas vacation, rumors were saying that the next show would be Lerner and Loewe's musical, Camelot. These were confirmed when auditions were held a few weeks later. Soon rehearsals began and continued for several weeks. The result was a wonderful show in the best Gould tradition. The many hours of hard work by all involved paid off. Pete Howard made a perfect King Arthur; Barbara McKnight was a lovely Guenevere; and Steve Ames certainly fitted the part of the dashing Lancelot. To add a little humor to the show, Pellinore (Bill Eames) and his faithful dog unconsciously kept things lively. Others in the cast were: Steve Trinward as Modred; Kathy Kittredge as Morgan Le Fey; Merton Brown as Merlyn; Paul York as Sir Dinadan; Dick Paine as Sir Lionel; and Ken Remsen as Sir Sagramore. Kathy Powers (Nimue) captivated the audience with the song, "Follow Me."

Members of the chorus were: Becky Andrews, Beth Andrews, Nona Bean, Carol Brown, Merton Brown, Vicky Brown, Debbie Bolen, Kay Butler, Becky Chandler, Nancy Chapin, Scott Cummings, Adeline de Clisson, Don Dixon, Pam Douglass, Michele Farrar, Carol Floyd, Linda Hathaway, Bob Knapp, Brooks Morton, Dick Paine, Jim Perkins,Kathy Powers, Terri Reid, Debbie Shipp, Terry Stecher, Steve Trinward, Diana Walker, and Paul York. Some of the chorus also danced and had speaking parts. Jousting seemed to be their favorite sport.

Dancers were: Jo-Ann Bickford, Cindy Brooks, Cathy Buck, Esther Conner, Scott Daigle, Ellen Dombkowski, Roberta Gilbert, Kris Glines, Bev Jackson, Janis Kennagh, Grace Lackee, Darlene Merrill, Susan Pierce, Ken Remsen, Leah Swain, Becky Thompson, and Joan Wiese. They seemed to like the "lusty month of May" better than any other.

Musical accompaniment was provided by the pit band, which was made up of Nancy Brown, Vivian Brown, Cindy Chapin, Andy Davis, Tom Davis, Ed Deegan, Gretchen Dock, David Hart, Elise Hatch, David Hutchins, Bronwyn Patterson, Patti Saunders, Kerry Stevens, and Craig Walker. Guest musicians were Mr. Lucien Langlois, and Mr. Joseph Richardson.

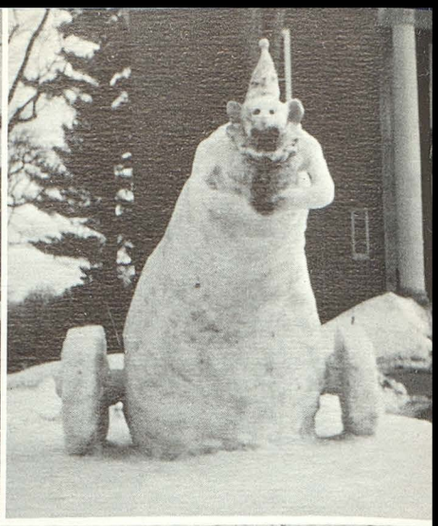

Bill Eames was stage manager; Savannah Stinnett and Joan Pollack did the lighting (?); Pat Herzing and Beth Sargent were in charge of props; Carol Floyd, costumes; and the theatre arts class made the scenery.

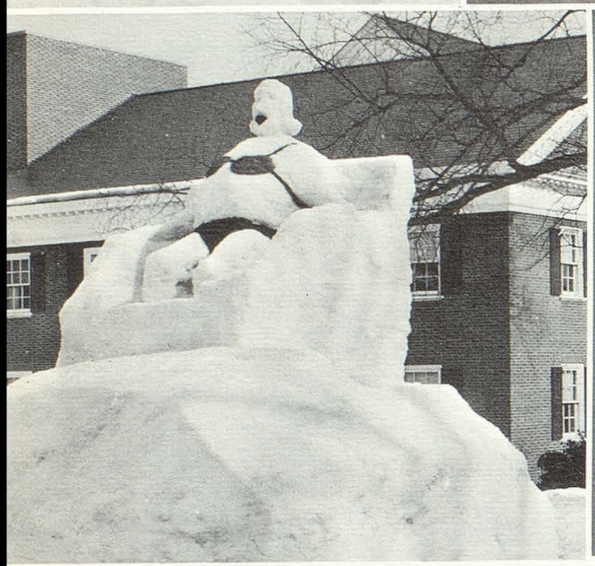

Many thanks go to our directors, Mr. Owen and Mr. Vogt, and Miss Arbour, our choreographer. We all appreciate the many long hours they spent working with us.

The year 1966-67 promised to be an exciting one from the very start of the season. Nowhere at anytime did the G.A.A. fail to live up to expectations. Under the apt guidance of Eileen Saunders, president — Pam Douglass, vice-president — Nancy Brown, secretary — Becky Andrews, treasurer — Elise Hatch, senior representative — Ruth Tebbets, junior representative— Mary Jane Geronda, freshman representative — and Vicky Brown, student activity council representative, the G.A.A. council initiated a vigorous program to maintain the G.A.A.'s reputation as one of the largest and most active organizations on the campus.

The first event sponsored by the G.A.A. was the annual Welcome Tea on September 22nd. The "big sisters" collected their charges at the door of Bingham Gymnasium and immediately put the new girls at ease. In an informal atmosphere, the managers of the various sports gave individual introductory talks about "the" sport, theirs.

Meanwhile, the G.A.A. was devoting its time and energy in an entirely different direction. Each football season is accompanied by the G.A.A.'s selling refreshments and cleaning up after all home games. This versatile organization also sells tickets and programs. The same is true of the basketball season.

The third major event tackled by the girls was the annual Hallowe'en Party. After considerable thought, planning and preparation, the G.A.A. set the weekend's activities into motion with a lively scavenger hunt. Relay races, class skits, and a dance, not to mention refreshments, followed closely on its heels. The theme this year was Hallowe'en Goes Native.

As fall sped into winter, the tempo of the G.A.A. slowed only slightly. Despite the cold and snow, Christmas decorations popped up inside and outside. They were especially festive in the main studyhall where a gayly decorated tree graced the stage while the windows sported Christmasy designs.

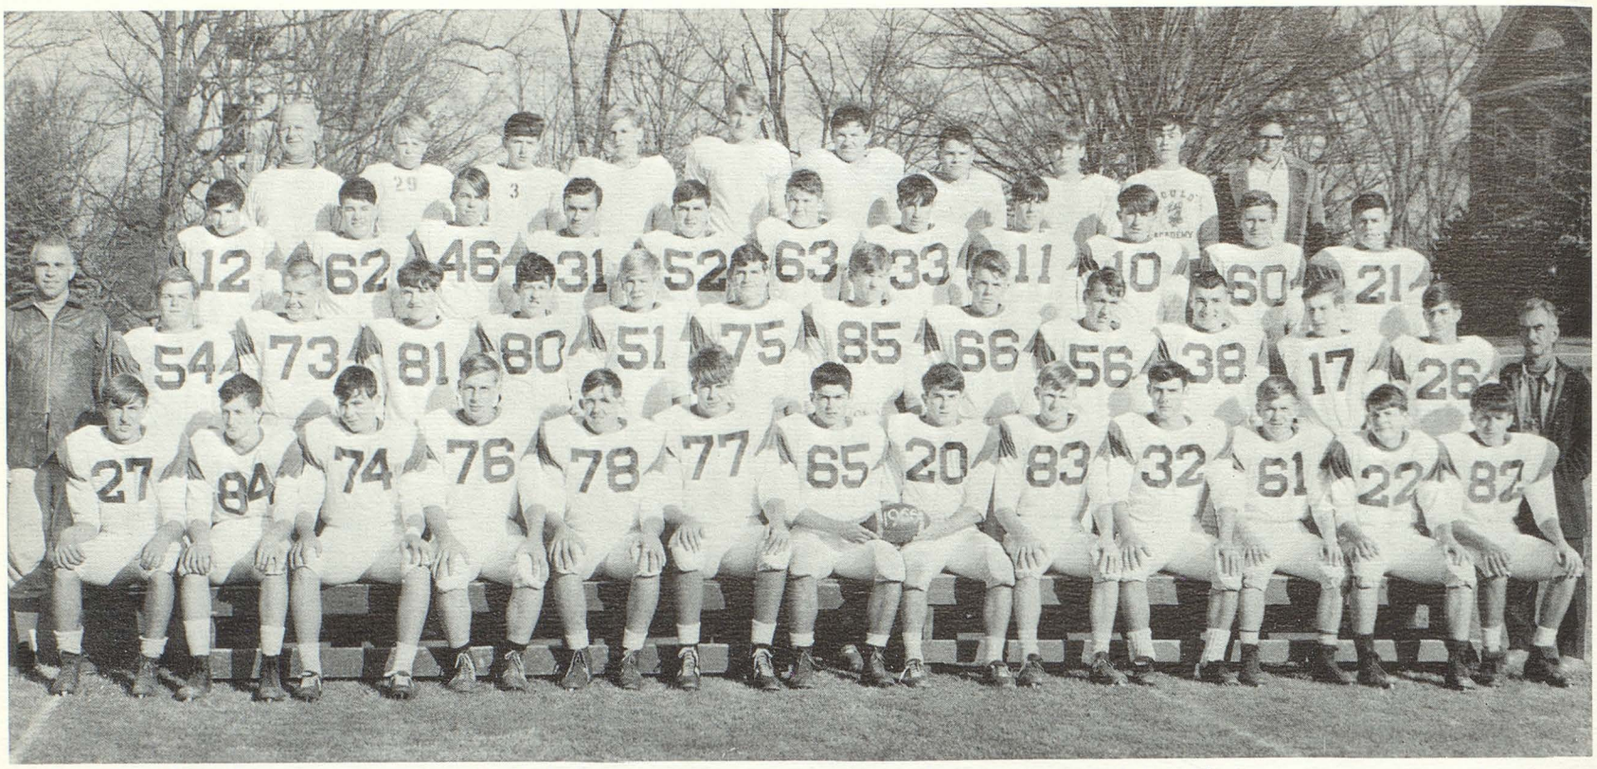

A lull followed the holiday hustle and bustle. The G.A.A. rested, conserving its energy for the coming busy spring. As April and May arrived, the girls' athletic teams of softball, archery and tennis engaged the Kents Hillers in active combat twice, once at Kents Hill on May 14th and at Gould on May 23rd. Let it not be said that the gallant Gould girls did not try. There was a bright note in the dismal picture, however; the gritty, little freshman softball team won both times.

The long awaited G.A.A. banquet took place on May 17th in Gehring Hall. After a delicious meal, Eileen Saunders opened the evening entertainment and ceremonies with a welcoming speech. The evening was highlighted with a 1900 Fashion Show, Awards Presentations, Installation of new officers and Miss Abour's "Words of Wisdom." At the end of the banquet, the members of the G.A.A. presented Miss Arbour with two pieces of luggage in appreciation for her understanding, kindness and helpfulness during her two years at Gould. All wished her the best in the future.

On June 3-4, the hard working council rewarded itself by taking an overnight vacation of rest and relaxation at Sebago Lake. Despite the "singing nightowls" and the "early birds," sleep and quiet prevailed during the night and early morning. All the G.A.A. members present hung a June basket, alias a late May basket, on Miss Arbour and then ate the candy themselves.

Truly the season of 1966-67 was a good one for the Girls' Athletic Association.

Football

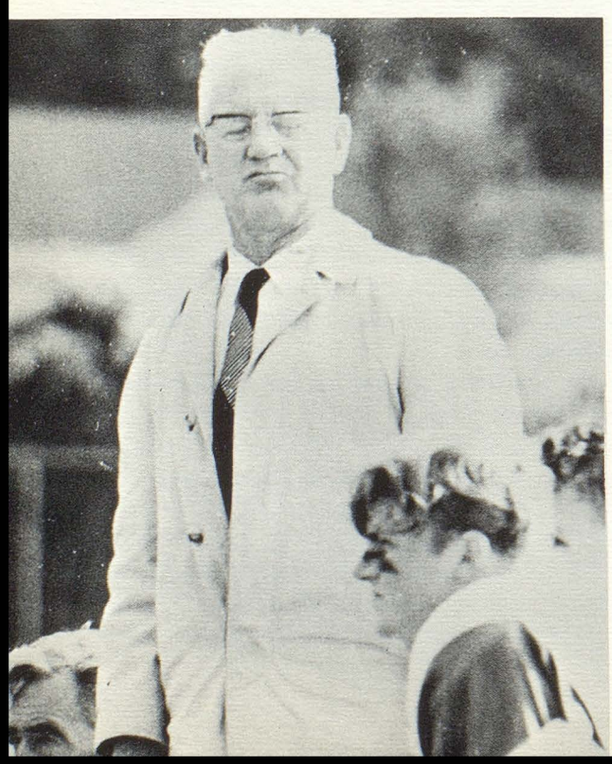

The Gould gridmen were gathered by coaches Scott, Roderick, and Cousins on September 1 for their first practice prior to the 1966 football season. Many of the Mountain Valley Conference teams were at the pinnacle of success, but Gould was to experience the worst season in twenty years. Much of the Husky trouble can be attributed to injuries and inexperience. Even though the team was not the best, it did set records; these records are not the type you would publish, but they will still go down in Husky history.

When the season was concluded and the statistics were reported, Gould had won three games and lost five. The defense allowed a record 161 points scored on them while the offense tallied 95 points on their opponents.

On September 17 the Huskies packed into the bus and went to Jay only to lose the opener 40-7; Gould was not the only team to lose to them because the strong Jay team became the Mountain Valley Conference champs.

The Huskies did not discourage easily — the next two weeks proved hopeful; they beat Wilton and Livermore Falls 21-12 and 9-8 respectively.

Parents' Day was the next game slated for the Gould eleven, and after battling a strong Williams High, they lost 37-12.

The week following, the Huskies lost their poise and let a weak Winthrop team win 19-14.

After a hard week of practice, the Huskies looked for revenge when meeting Farmington, but the superior opponent held Gould to 12 points while scoring 27.

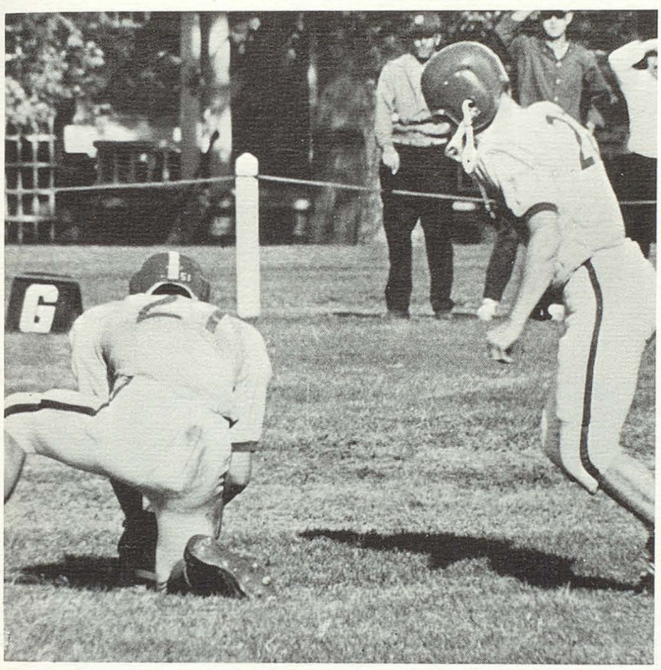

Many students and players consider the Mexico Pintoes as our school rivals in football; thus the Huskies were out to win. The Huskies got on the scoreboard first when Bob Seeman carried the leather for 6 points, and George Nickerson added one with a placement. The Pintoes got back in the game in the third quarter when they tallied for 6 points. The final score of the hard fought contest came with a 65 yard pass from quarterback, Bob Remington, to right halfback, George Nickerson, who saw limited action because of a shoulder injury. Harlan Bean, a defensive star, was considered by many the most valuable player of the game and of the season.

The gridmen hoped they could finish the season with a win, but after the final gun they were still down 5 points.

The Gould eleven had a losing season in the literal sense, but each player gained in sportsmanship and personal satisfaction. The 1966 co-captains, Harlan Bean and George Nickerson, wish next year's captain, Mark Vail, the best of luck. "Put the Huskies back on top, Mark."

George Nickerson '67

Once again Gould Academy has won the Class M state championship in cross-country, retained its Mountain-Valley Conference title, and won the Western Maine Conference meet.

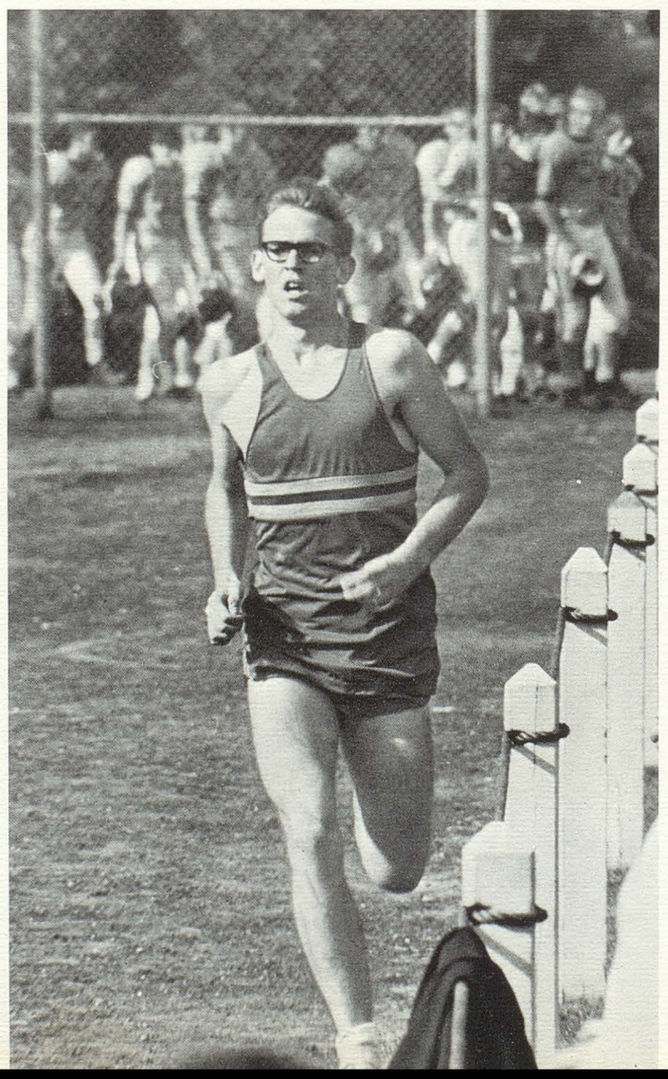

This year's term consisted of Captain Bob Everett, Ned Robertson, Lloyd Carver, Gene Tebbets, Jim Mann, Dave Carter, and Larry Fox. These are the seven varsity members who didn't like to lose.

Next year's team will be made up mostly of this year's J.V.'s: David Robertson, Gary Page, Bill Eames, Seth Timberlake, Craig Boyd, Brian Wentworth, Ricky Seames, and Frank Packard.

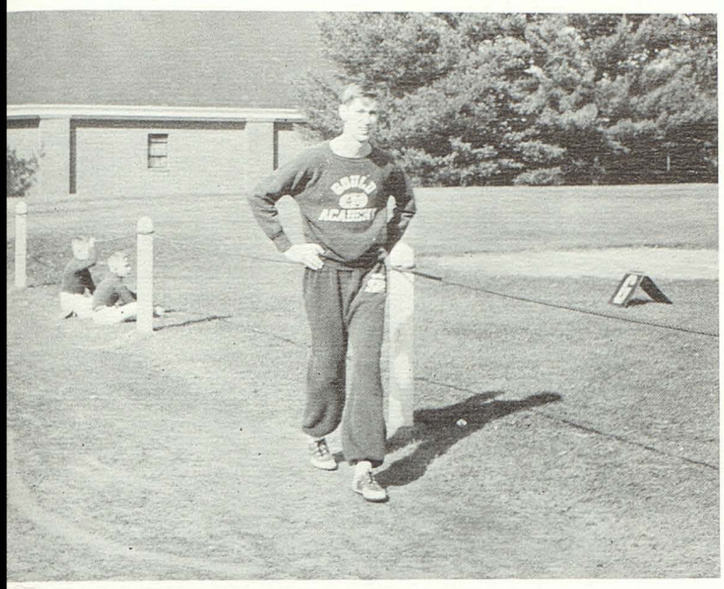

I think we all agree that the powerhouse behind our team was coach Frank Vogt. His patience and his motto, "Train with vigor," proved most effective. A plaque was presented to Mr. Vogt on Letter Day as a token of our appreciation for what he had done for us.

We started training early in the season, even before school started. Thus, we were all prepared for our first meet with Bridgton, Oxford Hills, and Phillips. Gould edged Bridgton 30-35 (low score wins). Despite Everett's first place at Gorham the following week, we were defeated by two points. The ride home was a long and a dismal one; we resolved not to let that happen again. Our next three races were easy victories. Gould ran at Mexico and beat the Pintoes, 25-31. Farmington, a team we expected trouble from, succumbed 25-31. On Parents' Day, in a meet held between the halves of the football game, Gould overpowered Kents Hill by a score of 21-37.

CROSS COUNTRY

The next meet was the toughest of the season. We were scheduled to race against Portland and Phillips on the 11th of October, but neither team showed up. We were forced to run against an even stronger team, Gould Academy. Gould's powerful runners captured the first five places and emerged victorious with a perfect score.

In our next competition, we beat Mechanic Falls and Buckfield at Mechanic Falls. Five days later at Hebron Academy we were again victorious. Four teams bowed down before us in the State Qualifying Meet at Farmington. Gould had 33 points; Bridgton was second with 47 points.

To the winners of the next three meets went a trophy; the Huskies won them all. First came the Mountain-Valley Conference meet which we barely won over Winthrop (41-43). Next, the State Meet at Orono, where we edged Winslow by 5 points (123-128). We just had to win the last race, the Western Maine Conference. We ran in the rain to a 31-43 victory over second place Bridgton. Thus ended a successful season.

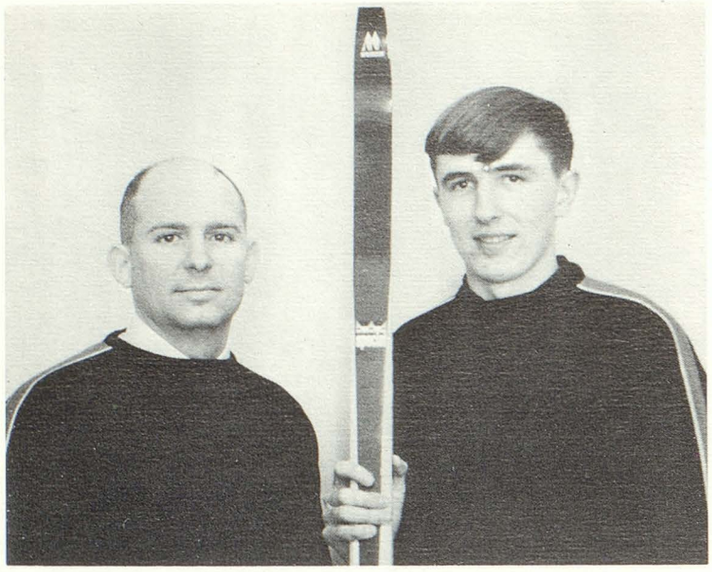

A word or two of thanks is due the cheerleaders, the faculty and students, and the parents and friends who helped us by simply being at the various races. You are as much a part of our victories as we are. We also wish to thank the school for furnishing equipment, transportation, and such a wonderful coach.

Boys' Ski Team

As the crisp winds of November whipped through "Devil's Kitchen," the Gould ski team began another grueling, yet profitable season. Mountain climbing, soccer, sprints, and hours of calisthenics were just part of the training menu set up by Coach Barth to bring the boys into top condition. Due to a late snow fall, the team had to wait longer than usual to get onto the slopes, but when it did come, the boys were ready.

The Alpine squad looked exceptionally strong and showed much depth as Bob Seemann, Ken Remsen, and Gene Tebbets were ably backed up by Scott Daigle and Pete Kailey, both very capable in either slalom or giant slalom. The Nordic men, however, had problems. Captain Bob Remington was joined by Ron Swain and Larry Fox in the field of jumping, with Alan Remington and Tom Remington showing much potential in this event. Dave Carter, Gould's strongest runner, was constantly being pushed by Gene Tebbets and Warren Tibbetts in cross-country, but none of these boys could seem to be constant in their efforts.

The first meet on January 6 and 7 proved to be the start of the team's problems. Edward Little completely smothered us in the running game and managed to fend off an excellent Gould come-back attempt in the slalom to win the meet, 293.76 to our 288.60. We did not fare much better during the Rumford Carnival on January 27 and 28. Not only were the conditions bad, but Gould was thrown against some of its toughest competitors: namely EL, Mexico and the host team. At the end of the first day, we salvaged a second place as Seeman, Tebbets and Remsen skied very well. However, the Nordic team could not place a man in the first ten places in either the jump or cross-country, and we placed a dismal third. Things were not all bad as the very next week the two Gould factions hit Farmington and Kennett with well-timed punches and swept the meet from those two formidable opponents. The State Championships were held the week of February 11, and we did very well in the slalom and giant slalom as, by the end of the day, Gould maintained a slim 2 point lead over rival Edward Little. Bab luck again fell on the Nordic team as we failed to find the distance in the jump or the wax in the cross-country and slipped from first to fourth place, thus eliminating ourselves from the New England's.

Gould's season could hardly be termed successful as far as wins or losses go, but we did gain much in our defeats and limited successes as athletes. We learned not to quit when many others, in the same situation, would have. We learned to respect success because we knew the pain of failure. We also learned that without men like Coaches Barth and Myers to guide us, we would not be a team.

Basketball

As the season began, it appeared that Coach Hurd had broken the well-established precedent of mediocrity in won-lost records. The squad contained a wealth of talent: accurate shooters, above average rebounders, sterling defensive specialists, and take-charge playmakers. Complementing these attributes, we had an unusual amount of old-fashioned drive and a thirst for victory. However, as we soon found out, large tourney point totals were not in our destiny.

After a flashing start, we ran into injury troubles, as two of our top players were sidelined. Without their presence we seemed to meet one problem after another. Our pressing game bogged down; shooting percentages diminished rapidly; rebounding became nonexistent on the offensive boards. That "Cinderella" basketball team once again returned to her work while her stepsisters, including the teams which she had previously demolished, found sweet revenge at her expense.

With the last faint glimmer of the tournaments fading over the horizon, Coach Hurd presented a new idea. Proposition: If a high-scoring ball team never gets the ball, it can't score. Resolve: We've very little to lose; let's try the control offense to keep the ball out of the opponents' hands!

On paper this was great, and it was put to the true test in the last three contests of the season. It won none of the duels in the record book, but it was agreed by many that holding a team with a sixty-plus average to nineteen points was a rather remarkable achievement! Whatever the opinion on that question, it must be conceded that the excitement and enjoyment, for both players and fans, of an overtime contest makes the game of basketball what it is today.

We wish the best of luck to the incoming team, and foresee a bright future for many of the players. The local grammar school, as well as the junior varsity squad, which enjoyed an exceptionally successful season, will add definite strength to the Husky attack, crimped as it is by the graduation of seven seniors.

Baseball

With snow still a major component on and around the Gould campus, the 1967 baseballers donned their gloves and wool hats, in the middle of March, and started practice under Coach George Bowhay and Co-captains Dave Bouldry and George Nickerson in the huge dirt room of the fieldhouse. Due to the smaller student body at Gould, the number that turned out for the first practice was small. Out of the twelve chosen to make up the squad, nine were local boys.

As the first game drew near, the comments echoing around the campus were that the team would have good fielding but weak hitting. When the last ball was thrown at the first game against a good Berlin team, Gould out-hit the opposition, eight to three, and out-scored them, three to nothing. The opinions about the strong fielding team were strengthening and the ones about the weak hitting team were weakening. Also the game with Berlin was only the fourth time the team had been on the field.

Gould, after their first five games, had won five and only after meeting Berlin for the second time experienced their first defeat.

Much of the strength during the winning season was due to seniors Dave Bouldry, Rodney Swain, Al Lovejoy, and George Nickerson; nevertheless, there were many able underclassmen.

When work had to be done during the course of the season, all looked to Manager Bill Eames, who did more than an ample job.

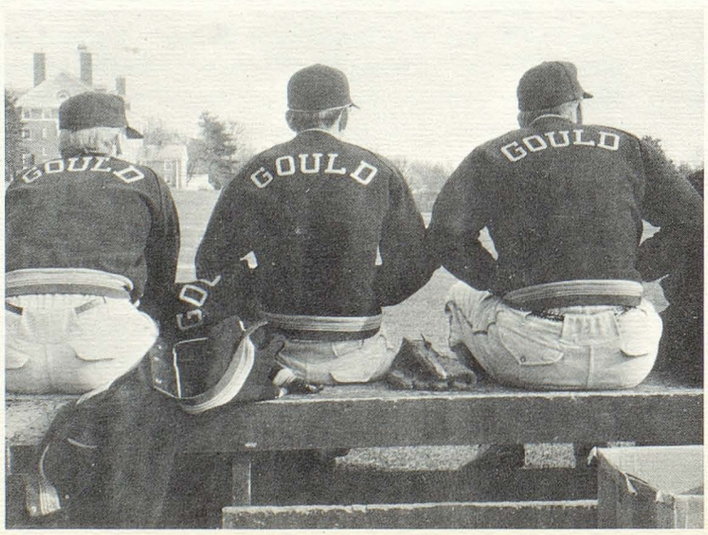

When the season ended, the Huskies found themselves in second place in this section of the Mountain Valley Conference.

Although the regular season had ended, the games had not. The Alumni game was played on June 10 with the Varsity conquering the elderly gents 14-6. The game ended after only six innings due to an injury, but the Alumni didn't have a chance anyway!

Track

Hampered by rain, snow, and a lack of candidates, Gould's track team utilized all of its potential and managed to split the season with two victories and two defeats. With only four lettermen returning, Gould had to suffer the agonies of building a team that was just budding that could meet competition.

The first meet of the year was held at Farmington on a wet and dismal April 28. Although Ned Robertson, Lloyd Carver, Bob Everett and Allan Remington did winning jobs in the distances, the team as a whole lacked depth in the field events. Captain Warren Tibbetts, the team's highest scorer and most dependable athlete, finished in the top three spots in the javelin, shot, triple jump and long jump and was assisted by Dennis Durgin in the shot and javelin and Don Dixon in the high jump, low hurdles and 100 yard dash. However, depth and experience paid off for the Greyhounds of Farmington and a slim 12 point victory was theirs.

In Gould's second meet, the Huskies came back with a well earned victory over a hardened Mexico squad. Calling again on Tibbett's strength, Gould formed a nucleus around its leader and produced outstanding efforts from newcomers Rog Wheeler and Tom and Bob Remington in the 220, pole vault and triple jump and, with Robertson's and Carver's running performances in the mile, 880 and 440, evened up the season.

May 20 brought forth another bright day for the men of Gould's discs and weights as in a tri-meet with Jay and Winthrop, the Huskies again climbed to the top of the scoring heap. It was now a story of several athletes hitting together and not just a dependence upon one man that decided this meet as both the veteran and the untried Gould men carried the meet to the wire as it was Bob Remington, Carver and Tibbetts, who decided the outcome of the show in the last event, the triple jump.

The last meet of the season was the big one for Gould as in the past three years we have won the Mountain Valley Conference title. However, although the squad put out 100 per cent effort, Gould placed fourth behind Winthrop, Mexico, and Jay. The team was, of course, disappointed. And yet, and perhaps most important, we realized that there would be another race to be run.

The team would not have been able to accomplish anything without the able assistance of Al Cummings and Dick Wakefield and to them the squad would like to express its gratitude. We would also like to thank "Joe" Roderick and Mr. Scott for all that they have done for the team, but our actions as athletes can well sum up how we feel about Gould's finest coaches and men.

Golf

This was the second year that Gould Academy participated in the Mountain Valley Golf League. We had seven scheduled matches, but due to the very poor weather, were able to play only six of them. Our first match with Livermore Falls High School proved a victory for Gould. With Paul York playing first position, George Palmer second, Parker Conner third, and Steve Ames and Ken Remsen fighting to the end for fourth position, Gould was able to finish the regularly scheduled matches with a record of three wins and three losses. In the Mountain Valley Conference Championship Gould took a fifth out of the eight schools competing.

Saturday's activties included the Alumni Luncheon, alumni-varsity baseball game, the Headmaster's Tea, and the Junior-Senior Prom. The luncheon, held in William Bingham Gymnasium, was highlighted with a presentation of tributes to teachers leaving Gould. After the alumni-varsity baseball game in which the varsity won 14 to 6, Headmaster and Mrs. Vachon performed one of their last duties at Gould by generously entertaining the alumni at the Headmaster's Tea. The Prom, held at eight-thirty Saturday evening, was a wonderful conclusion to the Seniors' social life at Gould Academy. The excellent decoration which converted the gym into Shangri-La and the fine music provided by Malcolm Smith and his band both contributed to the immense success of the evening.

Sunday marked the final graduation exercises of one of the most accoladed classes in Gould's history. Baccalaureate Services, held in the morning at West Parish Congregational Church, were outstanding on account of the excellent sermon, "The Power to Decide" delivered by the Reverend W. Harper Welch, Minister of the State Street Church in Portland.

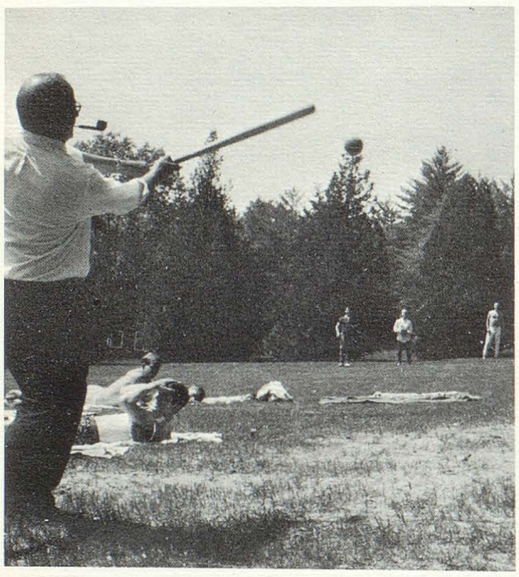

At two o'clock the actual graduation exercises began. Despite a hurried retreat to William Bingham Auditorium on account of rain, the ceremony proceeded flawlessly. Following the entrance of the Seniors to Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" played by Mr. Ward Steady and the invocation by the Reverend Clifford W. Laws, Peter Howard gave the Salutatory address. The Glee Club then sang "America, Our Heritage." The commencement speaker was Dr. Brown, Edward Little Professor of rhetoric and oratory at Bowdoin College, who spoke on maintaining one's inner temperature. This was followed by the Glee Club singing "Halls of Ivy" and the Valedictory address delivered by Gene Tebbets. Finally came the announcement of awards and the presentation of diplomas by Mr. Lowell, in the absence of Dr. Davidson. As the Class of 1967 made their final exit to "Pomp and Circumstance," they marked the end of an era as well as the end of their own careers at Gould Academy.
